Fire Chief Says Signal System Dangerous

FIRE CHIEF SAYS ALARM SIGNAL SYSTEM IS DANGEROUS

Saunders Will Ask Council for Sufficient Money to Proceed With Installation of New System—Present System Cannot Be Depended Upon

The condition of the fire alarm signal system has reached the danger point, according to Fire Chief Saunders, and unless a new system is installed in the near future it will be unsafe to depend upon the present system to do its duty. To remedy this condition, Chief Saunders said today he would request the city government to appropriate the money necessary to operate the new system to be installed in the near future to appropriate sufficient money to go ahead with the installation of a new system.

From day to day, said the chief, circuits throughout the city are reported out of order and only last week the Centralville circuit literally went to pieces. Investigation into the cause of the latter circuit's failure to operate led to the discovery by Capt. Con-

BURGLARS BIND AND GAG WOMAN THEN SET HER HOME AFIRE

Rob Landlady of Syracuse, N. Y., Apartment House and Make Good Their Escape—Firemen Overcome Attempting to Save Endangered Lives

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 22.—The entire Syracuse police department was mobilized today in an attempt to trace two burglars who this morning forced an entrance to the Lenox apartment house, bound and gagged Miss Frances Stabb, 34, and after taking a small sum of money from her room, set fire to the house.

The lives of Miss Stabb and four roomers in the house were endangered as the flames rapidly swept through the apartment, and in trying to rescue the people several firemen were overcome by gas fumes and narrowly escaped death. The fire was on its way to the first floor when firemen reached the building. They found that Miss

Stabb had been carried to the front porch by roomers. One of the men in the house, trapped on the second floor, was rescued by firemen.

The incomplete story which Miss Stabb was able to tell has all the qualities of a movie thriller. Miss Stabb awoke to find two masked men conversing in low tones and she screamed, but the sound was not heard by the roomers. She was then gagged and bound hand and foot, and the men took $70 in rent money in an adjoining room.

"We must cover up our tracks," Miss Stabb heard one of them say as they left, and Miss Stabb saw no more of them.

six feet of water. The physician who examined the body after it had been recovered attributed death to heart failure and drowning.

When the news of the young novice's death reached this city, Very Rev. Fr. Turcotte made a hurried trip to Hudson to make arrangements for the funeral. It was announced today that burial will take place tomorrow morning in St. Joseph's cemetery, Lowell, following a solemn high mass of requiem at 8 o'clock in St. Jean Baptiste church.

The regrettable feature in Rev. Bro. Taillon's death lies in the fact that he had but one and one-half months to go before completing his novitiate and taking up the theological course preparatory to ordination to the priesthood. He was regarded as an unusually keen student and was extremely popular with his associates.

The fatality occurred almost without warning. Brother Taillon was enjoying a dip in the pond with three other brothers from the novitiate. He was a fairly good swimmer and when he reached deep water no fear for his safety was expressed. Suddenly he was seen to throw up his hands, utter a slight cry and sink beneath the surface. His companions shortly recovered the body, but found that life was extinct.

LEOPOLD AND LOEB IN COURT AS VESSEL NEEDS NO ASSISTANCE

Letter Introduced Showing Youthful Slayers Considered Franks Abduction "Purely Commercial Proposition"—Leopold Maintains Stoical Front, But Loeb is Nervous

CHICAGO, July 23 (By the Associated Press).—The kidnapping of 14-year-old Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, was a strictly "commercial proposition," the attorneys wrote in their first letter to the father of their victim.

The letter was read today in the opening of the hearing before Chief Justice Cavanaugh to determine the penalty the two college youths shall pay for the death of young Franks, to which for the second time they affirmed today their lawyer's plea of guilty.

Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb came into court for the final act in the big criminal drama at 10.30 a.m., court opening promptly at 10 a.m. Leopold appeared unconcerned. Loeb was pale and almost started for the death of young Franks, to which for the second time they affirmed today their lawyer's plea of guilty.

The first victim was William F. Cary, whose machine, stated the arresting officer, barely escaped collision with another car while going at an unwarranted rate of speed.

Harry A. Webster got into difficulty with the state constabulary official when he tested his motorcycle on a 40-mile-an-hour clip, and occasioned Judge Enright to comment that, "One of the greatest menaces on the highway is the motorcyclist who dodges in and out of heavy traffic at a terrific rate of speed, getting in and out of places where larger vehicles find it impossible to operate."

The third defendant was Michael Massarelli, whose plea of nolo was not accepted by the court. He admitted that he was traveling at a fast pace, but excused himself on the grounds that he was hurrying to the bedside of a sick sister. Motor Vehicle Inspector Eugene Lounsbury was called into consultation with the judge and stated that speeding, regardless of what means are to be justified, is a violation of the law. With reference to speeding to sick bedside, he added that the law holds good even in regard to physicians.

THE LAST OF THE BELATED DIVIDENDS

Depositors in the Traders National bank, which went into the hands of receivers over 12 years ago, will receive receipts covering the final disbursement of the bank's assets within a few days from the receiver-general of national banks in Washington.

With the final payment, depositors in the bank will have received approximately 96 per cent. of the amount on deposit when the bank was closed. It is estimated that nearly 2000 Lowell residents were depositors in the bank.

COMMISSIONER WALSH HOLDS LOCAL MEN ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Lengthy Session of Court Includes Hearing on Charges Resulting From Raid on Near-Beer Establishment in Bridge Street—Several Lawrence Cases Disposed Of

One of the longest sessions of the court of United States Commissioner Richard B. Walsh held this year involved two lengthy hearings and the disposition of several other cases at the downtown street court house today.

Testimony from three federal agents and two defendants was heard in the case involving James J. Kennedy, Edward Cunningham and Daniel A. Whelan on charges of illegal sale and possession at a near beer establishment at 56 Bridge street, on June 25.

Probable cause was found against Kennedy and he was held in $500 for the federal district court. Cunningham was discharged because of no evidence to show that he aided in the sale and Whelan's discharge came solely because of his age, which he gave as 19 years.

In discharging him, Commissioner Walsh said it was only because he did not wish to send a boy before the federal court for trial.

During the testimony of Federal Agent W. H. Sullivan he declared that when the raid was in progress Whelan jumped on his back and attempted to prevent him from securing a bottle of liquor being held by Kennedy.

Whelan refused to give his name and was "fresh." The other two defendants denied that Whelan worked at 56 Bridge street, but Agents Sullivan and Rowditch testified that he told them he worked there.

According to Agent Rowditch, he went to 56 Bridge street for the first time on May 21. He was accompanied by an unknown man. He said he asked Kennedy for "some good liquor." Kennedy directed him toward a back room and there served two drinks from a bottle he took out of his pocket. Rowditch paid 50 cents per drink, he testified.

On June 25 Agent Rowditch entered the place for the second time and said he asked Cunningham, who was behind the bar, for a drink.

Cunningham said he did not know Rowditch.

He then told of being allowed to enter the back room by Kennedy, who poured him a drink from a bottle he passed to him by Whelan. He had the drink in his hand when Agents Sullivan and Hall entered.

Agent Sullivan said in giving testimony that he had gone into the premises on complaint. He saw one man sitting in a chair in the back room in a state of complete intoxication. He said Whelan jumped on his back and he tossed him off.

I asked him his name," said Sullivan, "and he replied, 'None of your business.'"

FEDERAL INQUIRY ON PT. JUDITH SMASH TO FIX RESPONSIBILITY

Four Dead Are Identified—Port Captain of Steamship Line Blames Oil Tanker for Collision in Fog—Signals Misinterpreted, Is Charge

NEWPORT, R. I., July 23.—The steamer Boston was lying beached here today, showing a gaping wound where the bow of the Swift Arrow smashed into her side, crushing three passengers to death and fatally injuring another, off Point Judith, just before midnight Monday. The 700 passengers who were brought to New York and Fall River, a score suffering from minor injuries, all continued on their journeys.

The dead were identified last night as Robert P. Schlemm, Boston, and John P. Schlemm of New York, brothers; and Mrs. Oscar Green of Brooklyn, N. Y., a bride of five weeks. Charles O. Copeland of Brookline, Mass., died of injuries at a hospital here after being

FIRE INVESTIGATED

State police have been requested by Fire Chief Saunders to conduct an investigation into a suspicious fire which gutted a fruit store at 179 Broadway, early this morning, and endangered the lives of tenants. Occupants of the tenements over the store were driven from their beds by thick clouds of smoke and were assisted to the street by police and firemen. The blaze was discovered by a passer-by who sounded an alarm from his car at 1.12 o'clock.

NOT SATISFIED WITH FINANCIAL CONDITION

Dissatisfaction with the financial condition of the charity and public service departments is expressed by the mayor in a statement issued today in connection with the semi-annual report of the city auditor.

Other departments of the city, he says, are in good financial condition and will live within their original appropriations, but with few exceptions.

If more money is granted the charity and public service department, he continued, it will be only a temporary expedient to the present workings of the departments has been made and a knowledge that these departments will be operated on an efficient basis for the remainder of the year.

PURSER OF THE BOSTON MAY BE TRANSFERRED

WET GOODS WERE CLEVERLY CONCEALED

What Capt. Palmer of the liquor squad described as "a most ingenious contrivance for concealing wet goods from the eagle eyes of prohibition enforcement officers," was discovered yesterday afternoon in the smoke-shop establishment of James McArdle in Charles street, where the captain, with Sergt. Winn and Officers John Leahy and William Liston, after considerable maneuvering, found 10 one-gallon cans and 50 pint-bottles of liquid in a cleverly concealed wall-partition. The secret rendezvous was brought to light when one of the investigating officers accidentally found that a small portion of what was once an ice chest yielded to his touch and betrayed the contents of the interior.

McArdle was arrested on a complaint charging him with illegal keeping, and paid a fine of $100 for this offense in district court this morning.

BALTIMORE YOUTH WANTED ON MURDER CHARGE MAKES GOOD HIS ESCAPE

Forces Three Locks in Cell of City Prison and Steals Pistol

BALTIMORE, July 23.—George Gross, one of the four youths convicted last month for the murder of Louis Cohen, Baltimore Jeweler, told his guard and escaped from the city jail about 2.15 o'clock this morning. In making his escape Gross stole a pistol from the guard and then jumped over the jail wall.

Robert Emerson, the guard, was knocked on the head by Gross with an iron bar and then locked in the escaped man's cell. He was unconscious for some time after he was released, and late this morning it was impossible to get an accurate account of just what transpired at the escape.

Edward J. Lee, warden at the jail, said this morning that an iron leg for a cot in Gross' cell had been used by the prisoner to force his way from the cell and also to tell the guard.

In making his escape, Warden Lee said, Gross had to force three locks on the cell door.

NAMING OF ACTOR TO PLAY "DANILO"

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, July 23.—There is a bare possibility that Erich von Stroheim, who is to direct the forthcoming Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production of "The Merry Widow," starring Mae Murray, will himself play the role of "Danilo," a continental military officer from a noble family, and devote of the gayest Parisian life, is the last work in swank. He presents one of the most vivid and significant picture assignments of the year. The role will enhance the reputation of any recognized star, and will assist him in his career, who may be selected. That may be taken for granted in Von Stroheim's direction.

Fall River Line Boat
Rescued Most of Persons
Aboard the Steamer Boston

Survivors Tell Surprising
Tales of Coolness Manifested by Passengers

NEW YORK, July 23.—Smiling faces and thankfulness that the fortunes of sea had been their favor were expressed by the survivors of the steamship Boston, rammed off Point Judith, R. I., who were returned here yesterday. The rescue of the steamer Priscilla and Providence of the Fall River line.

The passenger list of the Boston bore 640 names. The Providence and Priscilla rescued 325. Four are known to be dead. The rest were saved by other vessels and taken to New England ports.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shiber scanned the crowds from the two boats until the passengers had been landed. As they returned to their home they learned through a telegram from Newport, R. I., that their daughter, Mrs. Oscar Green, a bride, had been killed. She was one of the four crushed in her berth by the bow of the Swift Arrow as it shattered the side of the Boston.

All the survivors were thankful for the calmness of the night, the sea with hardly a ripple, the perfect discipline of the other passengers, and the quick answer to call for help. The rule of the sea, "women and children first," was said to have been rigorously observed.

Herman Redfield of Roxbury, Mass., told of an incident which he considered the most heroic of the night. He said that soon after the crash, passengers who ran on deck were surprised to see three girls dancing to the music of a phonograph. Others joined them and a temporary dance party kept many passengers occupied until the lights went out and the more serious work of rescue was undertaken.

Wrecking lighter Commissioner is alongside the rammed steamer Boston and divers are driving wedges where the steamer's hull plates were started by the blow of the Swift Arrow's bow under-renting the Boston's guard.

The government tugboat, the Teal, are still alongside with wrecking hose leading to the steamer's hold, but the steamer rests on bottom. As soon as the divers have lightened the worst of the leaks, it is hoped to pump her out and float her to a dock where she can be relieved of her cargo and then arrangements will be made for drydocking.

At the request of the Eastern Steamship company's Boston office, Governor Dwyer visited the ship again this morning and went over the state room locations, further satisfying the company that no more bodies remain in the wreck. By the coroner's direction and the company's orders, all the bodies have been prepared for burial and the last of them will be shipped home this afternoon.

CONCORD, N. H., July 23.—State Treasurer Farrand yesterday announced that the state collected $70,586 on the two cents gasoline tax in July, with 600 stations missing from the list. The tax was paid on 3,529,364 gallons. This is the largest single month's income since the tax has been collected and the volume of gasoline was 350,000 gallons more than for June. The July receipts, it is estimated, will exceed $80,000.

A Plea to Men

Please Keep Your Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

You men admire luxuriant hair, thick and lustrous, healthy, clean. And so do we, dear sirs. Then, why will you, through sheer neglect, let your hair disappear?

My hair is finer than 40 years ago. It grows thicker every year. I have never known falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Just because I search for the best hair helps men know. And I had them combined in a tonic which I call Hair Youth. From time to time each better help discovered has been added to it.

I believe the experts I consult know all that is known about hair. I know they supply me their utmost. Certainly no factors ever discovered have brought finer hair than mine.

Now I offer you, as I offer women, this supreme help for the hair. It is concentrated. You apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats the hardened oil and dandruff which so stifle the hair roots. It tones and stimulates. Then hair thrives just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

I know that here I place at your command the greatest hair help in existence. Not some fallacious theory, but some ordinary tonic, but the best that science has discovered, so far as I can find.

All druggists and toilet counters supply my Hair Youth under guarantee. The first package brings you help you seek, or I will pay the cost. The cost is 50 cents and $1 with eyedropper. Let me urge you to try it. We women all of us love to see heavy, healthy hair. And I have found the way.

I will send you a bottle to try without cost if you mail this coupon to me.

TO ADOPT JACKIE COOGAN

Tribe to Give Him Princely Rank as Its Ambassador on Near East Crusade

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 23.—Jackie Coogan, idol of juvenile movie fans, will become a full-fledged prince of the Navajo Indian tribe at a special initiation to be held here on August 4. More than six thousand Indians, members of the Navajo tribe and other tribes, will be present at the ceremony, which will be conducted by a group of specially appointed medicine men from Gallup, New Mexico. The award of this unprecedented honor to a white child was voted in order that Jackie might adequately represent, in an ambassadorial capacity, all the Indians of the United States in his approaching visit to the Near East Relief orphanages in Bible Lands. Coogan will sail from New York on September 1, with a million-dollar cargo of relief supplies donated by American school children to the orphans of Greece, Palestine and

Armenia. About $50,000 worth of these supplies were donated or gathered by students of Indian schools in various parts of America. Preparations for Jackie's initiation into the Navajos have been under way for more than two months, although the final vote of approval was only passed by the supreme council last week. Sixty Indian women and girls have spent ten weeks in the preparation of his costume, which includes moccasins, leggings, shirt, jack blanket, and the splendid feathered headdress of a "big chief." At no time in the history of the tribe has a little Indian Prince been so gorgeously outfitted as the newly adopted member will be on the occasion of his initiation. Details of the ceremony will be announced in a few days. A feature of the occasion will be the "Dance of Welcome," performed by 300 Indian girls representing the children of the tribe. This dance, more than three centuries old, expresses symbolically the tribe's joy at greeting a new brother. After the initiation, Jackie and the other Navajo chiefs will be the official guests of a citizens committee of welcome, under the chairmanship of R. W. Hoyt. They will visit several of the local Indian schools and later attend the annual Indian corn dance of the Pueblos of Isleta and Santo Domingo. Jackie's Indian name, which will be

CITY EMPLOYEE GOT DRUNK ON WATER WAGON

OAKLAND, Cal., July 23.—When John Vellela was brought to police headquarters here recently, the arresting policeman announced that the prisoner had been "drunk on a water wagon." The desk sergeant looked up dizzily and was informed that Vellela had been driving the public conveyance known as a water wagon and had been in a state of intoxication. The desk sergeant, after studying over the paradoxical phrase wrote down: "drunk in a public place."

conferred on him during the initiation ceremony, will probably be "Knight of the Golden Rule," in recognition of the fact that his forthcoming trip to Bible Land is an expression of the humanitarian doctrine expressed in the Golden rule.

Atlanta, Ga., Means Peanuts, Cotton and Watermelon

BY WILL M. CRESSY (Copyright, 1924, The Lowell Sun) A-T-L-A-N-T-A is the short way of spelling Georgia. Atlanta was named for Mr. George P. Atlantic, the discoverer of the Atlantic ocean, and the founder of the Atlantic Coast Line R. R. and the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. At the rate Atlanta is growing, all the other towns in Georgia soon will be simply suburbs of Atlanta. For instance, there is Rome. Rome was named for the place where Mister Nero fiddled "There'll be a Hot Time" to show his opinion of the Rome fire department. While Atlanta is very patriotic, their favorite song is not "Marching Through Georgia." Its principal exports are cotton, peanuts, ex-kidneys, watermelons, cocoa cola and professional southerners. By choice the Atlanta negro is a republican. But $2 is a lot of money and in Georgia the letters B. V. D. mean "Better Vote Democratic." Politically Atlanta is probably the most advanced city in the United States. They rewrite the constitution every morning. But disclaim any responsibility for the 18th addition to it. Georgia is a great fruit-producing state, its most profitable crop being the peanut. In the spring when the peanut trees are in bloom Georgia is said to rival Japan in cherry blossom time. The peanut is, or, according to whether they are double jointed or not, the only rival to the clove for removing incriminating evidence from the breath. Peanuts are either taken straight, or used to make peanut butter, peanut brittle and rich ice creams. The only place to eat peanuts in a refined manner is at a circus. The watermelon is another Georgia product. A watermelon is striped pumpkin full of sweetened water. It grows best in a sandy soil, in a white neighborhood. But the staple crop of Georgia is cotton. Cotton is used principally to feed boll weevils with. It is also good to stick in the ears for earache. Doctors also use it to sew up inside of folks after an operation. Cotton grows in a hurb, like an electric light. It hatches like a chicken. Then the cotton is picked out of the shell by hand. Black hand. (African, not Italian.) Cotton when picked is full of seeds. Cotton seeds. (Ain't nature wonderful?) Cotton is used in the manufacture of about everything but tomato catsup and toupees. There are also many by-products of cotton. These are things we buy thinking we are buying something else

OPPOSE SECOND-HAND CLOTHING STORE

Opposition to the opening up of a second-hand clothing store by Louis Rodolfsky at 317 Middlesex street was voiced by merchants in that vicinity at a meeting of the license commission last night. The remonstrance was made on the ground that such an establishment in the proposed locality would tend to injure business in general. Both sides were represented by council, and after a hearing the commission voted to take the matter under advisement. Seven proprietors of coffee houses in the Market street district appeared before the commission in reference to the proposed closing of coffee houses on Sunday mornings. These seven favored closing, while double that number were in opposition. The matter was continued for two weeks. The third item of interest to be discussed at last night's meeting was the petition of Angelo Cherette to conduct a lunch-eat business at 562 Lawrence street. The license was held up until further notice when a group of remonstrants entered objections to the establishment of such a business in that territory.

MATHEMATICAL WONDER Robert J. Harris, 8, of Los Angeles, amazes teachers and psychologists with his mathematical genius. Unable to read or write, he calculates interest on any sum as rapidly as a bank clerk. He also can solve problems in cubic and linear measurement in a flash. His uncanny faculty grew from listening to his father, a contractor, making oral computations, says the latter. Robert is physically, as well as mentally, well developed and his ambition is to be another Babe Ruth or Jack Dempsey.

BLACK HILLS PAGEANT PLANS COMPLETE

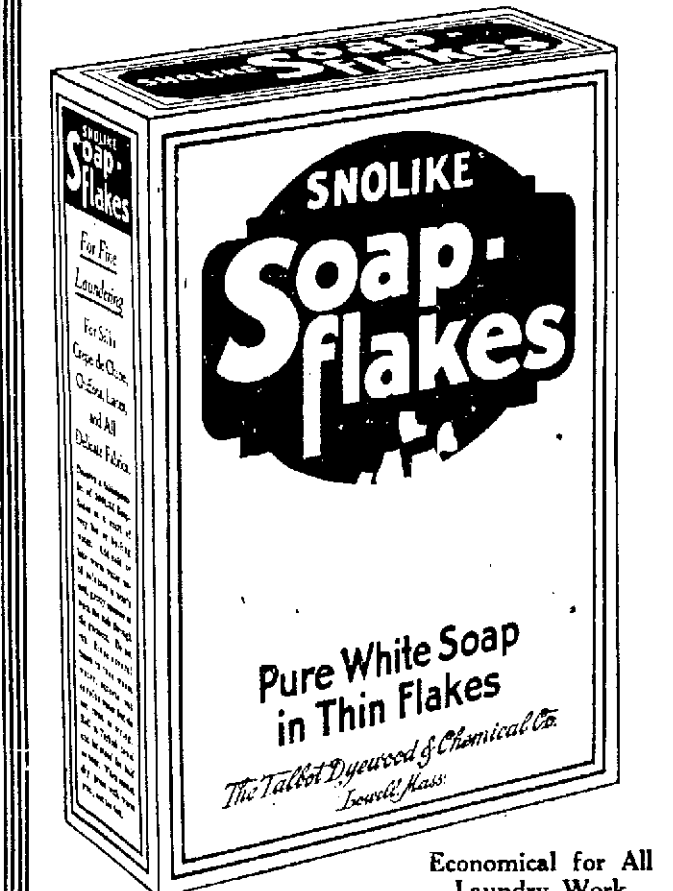

CUSTER, S. D., July 23.—Amidst a setting of crystal mountain streams and fir clad mountains that rank among the scenic wonders of the North American continent, this little city is astir with plans to entertain a host of visitors from over the nation at a historical pageant and gala occasion July 28-29 in honor of the anniversary of the discovery of gold in the Black Hills. What Sutter and the days of '48 mean in the annals of California is signified to South Dakotans in the name of D. N. Ross and the year '74. Ross made the first practical discovery of gold here July 27 of that year, and from the event has developed the greatest low grade gold producing mine in the world, and an industry that contributes an average of one-tenth the annual output of this metal in the United States. For some years Custer, the oldest town in the Black Hills, has been the veterans' Indian fighter who met death in the massacre of the Little Big Horn, has paid modest tribute to his original "sour dough" but now a dozen cities have joined hands to make the semi-centennial a historic event. Included in the two-day celebration will be a program of sports partaking of the atmosphere of the pioneer west, and a sectional parade of industrial progress. The climax of the festival will be a pageant, "Gold Discovery Day," preparations for which have been under way for months. The episode itself will be briefly set forth in a scouting expedition to the site on a scouting expedition and the epochal incident in which Ross, free lance geologist and a member of his command, sifted out the first pan of "pay dirt" from the bed of French creek. There will be many more scenes depicting the part of the Indian and cowboy, of the prairie schooner, stage coach and ox team in the early life of the region. The town of Custer dropped out of focus in the Dakota gold stampede as suddenly as it had risen to fame when, the year following the original discovery, far richer "diggings" were located near the present cities of Lead and Deadwood, but the community could not be deprived of its history-making experience. A monument of Black Hills' specimen masonry was dedicated on the 21st anniversary to the memory of the veteran Ross, who lived and died here. Also, a large fund was completed in June this year for a memorial to Mrs. Annie D. Talant, who arrived with her husband and the initial band of prospectors overland in a prairie schooner in the late fall of that first year and remained—the first white woman in the Black Hills.

RED PIMPLES ITCHED TERRIBLY On Forehead and Chin. Cuticura Healed.

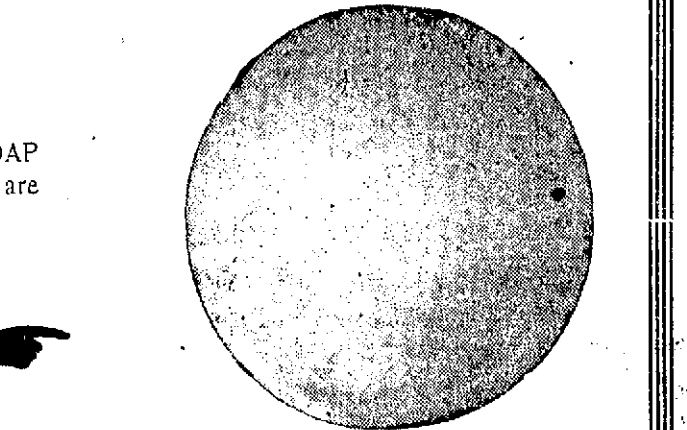

"Pimples broke out on my forehead and later my chin became affected. The pimples were hard and red and sometimes they festered. They itched terribly and when I scratched them it made them worse. The skin around the pimples was red and inflamed, and the trouble lasted about two years. "A friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some. After a few days' use I was greatly relieved. I continued the treatment and now I am completely healed." (Signed) Miss Dorothy Burke, 8 Downes St., New Haven, Conn. April 14, 1924. DUTIES OF POLICE CHIEF

Those who know the genial and obliging nature of Chief Atkinson of the police department, will regret to hear of his serious illness brought on, it is believed, by the worries and responsibilities of his office. A nervous man should never accept an office such as that of police chief under present conditions. It may not have occurred to the average citizen that as a result of prohibition, together with new traffic and accident problems, the duties of chief of police have been multiplied almost fourfold in the last half dozen years. The superintendent of police has found his position a most nerve-racking one. The continual turmoil, raids, arrests, prosecutions and legal tangles arising from the enforcement of the prohibition law, are very annoying, and no matter how faithfully a man tries to enforce the law, he will find that he can neither control nor banish all the bootleggers.

This realization preyed upon the mind of Supt. Atkinson and in all probability had something to do with bringing on his present serious illness. The traffic problems also, came thick and fast. They are comparatively new and call for much serious thought and executive ability for even the semblance of regulation. In addition to the general work of the department, the business of keeping track of the expenditures of the department was no small task in itself, so that it is not at all strange that Supt. Atkinson has temporarily succumbed to the cares and worries of his office.

At present the duties of police superintendent in a city such as Lowell, are too heavy for any one man. The administrative duties might well be taken off his shoulders so that he could devote his time and energies mainly to the enforcement of the laws, the rounding up of bootleggers and crooks and the strict preservation of law and order at every point. All this would mean merely a subdivision of labor and the assignment of part of the work now resting on the shoulders of the superintendent to other hands.

SECRETARY HUGHES ABROAD

In his address before the American Bar association in London and again at the Pilgrim dinner, Secretary of State Hughes gave a clear and yet conservative statement of the attitude of the United States on the leading international issues that have delayed the restoration of actual peace and settled conditions in Europe.

In everything he said, Secretary Hughes spoke with the dignity befitting his position and with tact and eloquence, he unofficially set forth the good will of the United States and the desire of her people to aid Europe in every practical way in the solution of the present reparations issues with Germany, to the end that justice shall be done and the problems coming down from the war solved in a manner that will insure permanent peace.

As a lawyer, Mr. Hughes' address to the Bar association was particularly brilliant and appropriate. The fact is, that he has the tact and judgment, together with the diplomatic intuition, to say the right thing in the right way. His speeches have created a good impression in London and in this respect they will stand in striking contrast to the blundering intonances of Col. Harvey, who hardly ever addressed a public meeting in London without either insulting his hearers by some crude remark or else disgusting them by fulsome praise at the expense of his own country. Hon. John W. Davis made no mistake of that kind, and since he left London no American has spoken so diplomatically as has Secretary Hughes.

FOR ALL NEW ENGLAND

An important conference of New England sales managers to discuss the better development of a home market for New England-made goods, opened today in Boston. Invitations were sent in advance and in good season to the sales managers of every producing firm in New England, by the Boston chamber of commerce, whose plans to promote the commerce of this region of the United States will culminate in a "New England Week," Sept. 15 to 20.

At this week's session of sales managers from every important business section of six states, plans were formulated to better reach New England customers and sell them goods in their "home region." Specific topics brought up included methods of "selling New England" plans for a new England sales managers' convention to take place in a centrally located city of convenient access; an explanation of the methods used by several well known business concerns which have obtained a thorough distribution of their goods in New England and other important matters relating to the process of reviving inter-New England trading to hasten the return of prosperity "at home."

We have no doubt that the sales managers will also look thoroughly into the problem as to what percentage of the present total consumption of merchandise of the country is represented by New England purchasing power. Plans should also include a complete commercial survey of New England and possibly the publishing of a suitable register of New England-made merchandise.

It is true, as has been repeatedly charged, that New Englanders purchase but a small percentage of their own production.

THE MATTRESS VOTER

The mattress voter, who gets registered here because he happens to sleep here on April 1, is said to be a rather numerous entity. Some of them have become rather prominent in our municipal affairs and also rather outspoken on various public issues just as if they were bona fide residents. It would seem to be the duty of the assessors to deal with this class of bogus citizens as the law directs. The man who resides in an adjoining town and owns property there is not doing his duty to this city by being registered here through sleeping at a friend's house or in a local hotel on April 1. Moreover, we understand that some such "citizens" who are virtually non-residents, have their children educated at the schools of Lowell without paying the usual tuition fees charged non-residents.

WALL STREET WONDERS

Undoubtedly Wall street fears that the La Follette candidacy for president will lay stress eventually upon the desirability of government ownership of all the railroads in the land. That was predicted before the recent Cleveland convention. The financial districts in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, of course, believe that the convention that chose La Follette for its standard-bearer, was dominated by certain radical interests. The latter's reported warm friendliness to the gentleman from Wisconsin is based, we presume, upon their hope that he will be a red-hot advocate of their cause.

A signal in the offing from "The Railway Age" bears out this belief. The current edition contains the following comment:

"The nomination and candidacy of Senator La Follette for president are intended, mainly, to promote government ownership of railroads. The more the proceedings of the 'progressive' conference at Cleveland are studied, the plainer this becomes."

RHODEY INDIGNANT

It certainly would seem to need some explanation from the Massachusetts state police as to why they hold as suspicious persons, two assistants to the attorney general of Rhode Island, two Providence police officers and two civilians who were all required to give bail before securing their liberty. Apparently our state police feel that a row of recent events in Rhode Island, the people of that state are a bad lot. But Gov. Flynn protests to Gov. Cox against the indignity thus cast upon Rhode Islanders; but the Massachusetts officials are in search of the man accused of having placed the bomb in the Rhode Island senate and they are determined to get him in which case there may be sensational developments.

CHICAGO MURDER TRIAL

The lawyers in charge of the defense in the trial of Loeb and Leopold, the youthful Chicago murderers, are using all their ingenuity to convince the public, as well as the court, that the boys are insane. But if they are insane, every other criminal can make a similar plea with equal justice. The fact is, that they are both dangerous criminals who had no delusions as to the crime they committed. If they escape the gallows, then the inference will be justified that any youth can commit the foulest murder and escape the death penalty if he can secure able lawyers to present the plea of "compound insanity" in his behalf.

The tendency of the city council to play both sides on the matter of confirming nominations, is not calculated to improve the public service. The courageous official who does not want to dodge issues, is not afraid to go on record for what he believes to be right and in the interest of the city. It should not take the greater part of a year to elect the head of any department.

That rebellion in Brazil is of greater proportions than the outer world realizes. It is as if New England rebelled against paying most of the taxes, while the rest of the country failed to do its share. It is hoped that the Brazilian government will not be overthrown.

Philadelphia is tired of the semi-military police regime of Gen. Butler, but now finds it hard to get rid of this official. The people soon tire of having police officials at their heels at every turn.

One means of lessening the number of drunken drivers might be to have every applicant for a license sign a pledge not to drink liquor of any kind while operating a motor vehicle or for six hours before such operation.

All the resources of law must be used to banish the drunken driver from the highways.

SEEN AND HEARD

The screen drawing the biggest crowds now is the fly screen.

This weather makes people so lazy they take short-cuts when they go out walking.

A Thought

Better a little child than a great deal of heart-break.—Shakespeare.

In Plain English

"And now," began counsel, well known for his use of legal phraseology, in his cross-examination of a witness. "I take it that in view of the enforcement of this wage award you were given notice that your agreement would be terminated?" "If you mean I was given the sack, that's right," said witness.—Yorkshire Post.

The Misogynist

I am a woman hater; they bore me. They simmer and giggle in a way that makes me tired. Their painted faces, pencilled eyebrows, ruby lips and all their little tricks do not thrill me. Their talk is not interesting. I would not care to sit out a dance with one of them. I like the company of men so much better. I am a woman.—Town Topics.

'Su Wonderful Life

It's great to be an editor. To sit up late at night scratching and scribbling words. And throw the ball. And write and write and write. An editor was dying, but when the doctor bent over, placed his ear on his breast and said, "Poor man! Circulation almost gone!" the dying editor shouted: "You're a liar! We have the largest circulation in the country."

Decided to Serve

On the panel summoned was a lady who wished to be excused. When her turn came the judge asked: "Well, madam, why don't you want to serve on this jury?" "I'm opposed to capital punishment," "But this is merely a case in which a wife is suing her husband for an accounting. It seems she gave him a thousand dollars to pay down on a handsome fur coat, and he is alleged to have lost the money at poker." The lady juror spoke up promptly. "I'll serve. Maybe I'm wrong about capital punishment."

Modern Miracle

Novelist Theodore Dreiser was talking about a religious squabble which threatened to break up a Brooklyn church. "It is a squabble about miracles," he said. "Now it is silly to squabble about miracles. Why, miracles are happening all around us every day." He paused impressively; then he went on: "Only this afternoon I saw George Jones walking with a chicken, and when Mrs. Jones, George's wife, you know, happened by, she took to appear distinctly saw the chicken turn to duck."—Brooklyn Eagle.

It's So Easy!

The late Betty Lind, the famous Gaiety star, did not look with any great favor on the movies. "They lie so," she said one day, apropos of certain six-figure salaries and seven-figure production costs. "It's like the egg story. In a certain restaurant that made a specialty of soft-boiled eggs they used to mark on each small the date of laying. Thus the patron could refuse any eggs that weren't perfectly fresh, you see. Well, one evening, a patron asked for a couple of eggs laid that day. 'Sorry, sir,' the waiter said, 'but today's eggs are sold out. However, if you don't mind the date, I can give you a superb brace of tomorrow's.'—Rebbooth Sunday Herald.

Rightly Accused

In my junior year at college I edited the annual. One of the features of the book that year was a group of baby pictures, ostensibly those of the faculty. In reality they were taken from the collection of a friendly photographer and given professors' names. The staff member who arranged this never thought the pictures would be recognized. Apparently none was. A few years later, one of my wife's school friends was visiting at our home. Something came up that caused a reference to this annual. "You published that book didn't you?" she said to me, "and do you know what you did?" You printed my baby picture and under it ran the name of Prof. Smith, naming a disfigured professor of Greek language and literature.—Rebbooth Sunday Herald.

Fully Protected

Briggs and his wife were starting out for a ride in the car. "I tell you, we don't get out in the open enough in the winter time," Mr. Briggs observed. "Nothing like—This car isn't working like it ought to! Only hitting on three." "Maybe we had better go back," Mrs. Briggs suggested. "Nope. I'll be all right when it gets warmed up," Mr. Briggs spoke with assurance. Just then they came to a hill and the car climbed to the top only with great difficulty. "Guess I'll have to take a look and see what the trouble is," Briggs announced. He pulled over to the side of the road and got out and raised the hood. After a short investigation he raised up and announced to the Mrs.: "Just a spark plug missing." "Well," commented the Mrs., "Isn't it just fine that you have that insurance?"—Kansas City Star.

The Halls of the Heart

The sweet-scented meadow, the blue-lined sky. They do not desert us when summer goes by. For all through the winter, though summer dead, Their pictures are hung in the halls of the heart.

The darker the day, and the sadder the mood, The brighter the memories of mountain and wood. And worried and wearied in mill or in mart, We turn with relief to the halls of the heart.

The sweet loving smile and the bright beaming eye. They stay with us still though our daily life is dreary. For love and remembrance with magical art, Still picture them forth in the halls of the heart.

Then face us the future however it may frown, Though sorrow like mists of the winter come down, The joys of the past of our lives are a part, We keep them for aye in the halls of the heart! —DENIS A. MCCARTHY.

FOR MIDSUMMER

The yellow hat for midsummer is seen in large or small shapes and is usually trimmed with flowers of the same shade.

"DAD" COOLIDGE VISITS WHITE HOUSE

The Coolidge family poses on the White House lawn for the first time since the arrival of the president's father (seated on left) who came for his first visit following the death of Calvin, Jr.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Councilor "Jim" Hennessy, recently returned from a few days at Wellfleet and Falmouth where his cousin, George Moran, is conducting two fine hotels, is enthusiastic over Cape Cod and what he saw, and as the councilor never lets anything get by him, he is interesting when telling about anything. He met Governor Cox at Wellfleet, he said, for the governor owns a cozy little summer place near the place where the councilor stopped, and he says His Excellency was happy in the enjoyment of a snappy looking sail boat. Councilor Hennessy saw much in and around Provincetown to delight him; much that was classier about the early days of the colonies, and said the monument there overlooking the harbor is majestic and awe-inspiring. He told me that the pretty little church in Wellfleet, with its exquisite garden of roses, lilies, etc., is a delight to the eye. It was an entirely new country to me," he added. "Our folks here can well find something charmingly interesting in a drive around those quaint little Cape Cod towns."

Automobilists have been warned on many occasions within the past few years, about the danger of children looting spare tires from their machines if left parked in out-of-the-way places, and on several occasions automobilists have lost by robbery, tires which were in place on the wheels. But the limit was not reached until recently when, according to police at Branch and School sts. parked by the highway were stolen. According to the police of this town, an automobile was left by the highway for about an hour one evening and the driver, upon returning to the machine, found that both front wheels of the machine had been stolen.

Youth triumphant! Baseball is for boys. To prove this we have ready for presentation testimony of nine or ten men who have advanced into the state of matrimony, yet who covertly think themselves the physical equal of their juniors. It is all bunk! Age exacts a penalty and stands by while dynamic boyhood shows the way, in baseball particularly. A team composed wholly of married men from this paper opposed a team of bachelors (other evening) and we of the family ties came off second best. It was not a bad beating, no. It was a close, well-fought-out contest, but the staying power of the youngsters was in evidence as the innings passed. They could stand the heat better, what we mean, they absorbed punishment easier.

Thoughts of baseball lead to thoughts of Alvin Karpis and then to Billie Clark, the caretaker, who is an earnest worker and one of the most unaccommodating gentlemen one will meet in a day's journey. He has been very nice to "us" before and during our baseball battles and we cannot but give him this slight word of justifiable praise.

Of course I know that it is useless for one whose work carries as little weight as does mine to even attempt to criticize the adorable young flappers, nevertheless I cannot help but note the idiosyncrasies of that class of young women. Yesterday I stood on the square watching antics of the galloping mercury in attempting to smash the record. Eighty-six was the tale that the thermometer told. Just then a vision in the form of a girl brushed past me. She was, apparently, comfortably dressed for November. She wore a cloth hat, a long sleeved dress and gloves. Around her throat she wore a heavy white fur. I gave up.

ONE FRIEND TELLS ANOTHER

The fame of a successful remedy is often spread far and wide by women telling one another of its merits, as is evidenced by a letter written by Mrs. Delbert Bush of Muscon, N. Y. She writes: "I was in such a bad condition I could hardly walk, a friend had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with excellent results advised me to try it. It has given me back my health and I cannot praise it enough." There are women everywhere who have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gladly tell their friends and neighbors about it.—Adv.

U. S. STEEL SCORED ON PRICE RULE

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The Pittsburgh price system of determining steel prices is held by the federal trade commission to be not only an unfair method of competition but a violation of the Clayton act in that it is a means of price discrimination.

In an order directing the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiaries to abandon the system, by which rolled steel products shipped from various points are quoted at the Pittsburgh base price plus freight charges from that city to destination, the commission asserts that it is a method of price fixing not found on the law of supply and demand.

Operation of the system, the commission adds, tends to retard the steel business in all centers except Pittsburgh, to lessen and eliminate competition, and to increase costs to consumers to an amount that reaches $30,000,000 a year in the case of farmers in eleven western states alone.

BOY INJURED WHEN AUTOMOBILES CRASH

A 5-year-old boy walking along the sidewalk with his mother was injured last night when two automobiles were in collision at Branch and School sts. He is Camille Thelen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Thelen, 11 Burnside street. None of the seven passengers in the two cars was injured.

The automobiles were owned by Edward Stead, 10 Kensington street, this city, and Jason J. Cutler of Lynn, a member of the Silver baseball team of North Chelmsford. As the cars came together at the intersection of the two streets they were thrown toward the curb and one of them struck the Thelen boy and knocked him down. He was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital where examination showed his right ankle had sustained a compound fracture.

Patrolman Joseph A. Johnson investigated the accident but made no arrests when he failed to find negligence on the part of either operator.

Hair Cuts

Who do you see in the every day p'rade that leads to the old barber chair? There's mother and sister and grandmother, staid; and sonny, quite often is there.

Mom goes for a cut that is stylish; her hair to fashion, it seems is a slave. And then she will patiently sit in the chair while they hand her a permanent wave.

The barber shouts "next!" and then grandmother hops. She dreams of her sweet-sixteen day. And, thus, you will find, when the barber man stops that her tresses are bobbed half way.

Comes sonny a running; his patience is weak for he is a play-seeking soul. There's many a time from the barber's he'll sneak. Then Mom cuts his wool with a bowl.

When sister gets in she's exact as can be o'er the way that her head of hair hangs. She faces the mirror just so she can see how the barber is cutting her bangs.

We almost forgot about baby and dad, but they ne'er to the barber are hauled. Perhaps they have reason enough to be glad for Pop and the infant are bald.

THE CUMBERLAND

Magnificent thy fate,
Once Mistress of the Sea
No braver vessel ever flung
A pennon to the breeze;
No bark e'er died a death so grand;
Such heroes never vessel manned;
Your parting broadside broke the wave
That surged above your patriot grave;
Your flag, the gamut of the game,
Stank proudly with you—not in shame,
But in its ancient glory:
The memory of its parting gleam
Will never fade while poets dream
The echo of your dying gun
Will last till man his race has run,
Then live in Angel Story.

TELLS HOW WOMEN MAY STAY YOUNG

"At any age, if she wishes it, a woman may have youth," Mary Garden says in an interesting interview with Lloyd Morris recorded in August Good Housekeeping. "In middle age," she goes on, "she may add the wisdom and attraction of experience. Everyone has heard of Ninon de l'Enclos, the famous French beauty, who at eighty still exercised a subtle fascination upon all who met her. Ninon possessed the secret of eternal youth. And that secret is to retain a perpetual ecstasy in living; to live only in the future, never in the past."

Not Afraid of Age

"Now I do not fear age," the famous star affirms. "For it is possible to conquer the future. Everyone knows my age; it would be preposterous for me to try to conceal it. And why should I? There are compensations in maturity, advantages even, that are not perceptible to the very young. People often seek to compliment me by saying that I am now at the height of my career, that I have reached my greatest success as an artist. But I know not, and I say this emphatically. In a sense my career is only beginning. There are infinite worlds for me to conquer; worlds that do not lie in anything external to me, but in my mind and heart."

Physical Attractiveness

"Naturally, no woman can afford to neglect the usual precautions which aid her in preserving physical attractiveness," Mary Garden proceeds to counsel readers of August Good Housekeeping. "A regular life, enough sleep, strict attention to diet, any form of exercise consistently pursued, and an undeviating solicitude and attention to personal appearance upon all occasions are the chief of those precautions. No woman can afford to let herself go at any age, no matter how young or beautiful she may be. To do so is to begin to form a habit of laziness."

non and inertia which is not only physically, it morally and spiritually damaging. To take these precautions is an obligation of intelligence. It is equivalent to a deliberate refusal to degenerate. I sometimes think that, in a woman, vanity and pride in physical appearance is an index of cultivation. A savage can be sloppy and careless, but a determination to make the most of oneself indicates civilization of the spirit.

"The chief point, however, is to have an ambition that spurs you on; to possess some definite purpose toward which you are working and for which you are living. That is the only infallible defense that I know against the exactions of time. To face the future with courage, with expectancy, with a clearly conceived objective, is really equivalent to annihilating the future."

"Every woman, whether or not engaged in a profession, and whether or not she is conscious of it, possesses some such objective. It may be the happiness or success of her children, or the advancement of her husband, or the progress of some activity—perhaps political or social—in which she is concerned. She may be living vicariously and unselfishly in the lives of others. But at bottom she cherishes some ambition and some hope. It is in her unfulfilled ambitions and hopes that her youth still lives. Therefore, she should be as thoroughly conscious of them as possible."—From Good Housekeeping.

FINDS STYLE IN GINGHAM DRESSES

HOPE HAMPTON POSING IN SOME DAINY FROCKS OF GINGHAM

"Simple frocks for a quiet mood," advises Hope Hampton, as she poses in the latest styles in gingham dresses.

Style in gingham? Oh, yes! It's even easy to achieve as these photographs demonstrate. The flounced model cleverly makes use of the modish apron tunic. A long overskirt and clever collar are stylish adjuncts of another. A third is a straight-line affair with a dashing bow on one hip. Fashionable models, all of them, and all of them of gingham.

"Frocks like these are fresh and sweet for morning," says Miss Hampton. "I wear them often, especially in California. They put me in a cheerful work-a-day mood."

"A dress, I think, often causes one's moods. It's equally true, though, that one's moods frequently decide the dress one will choose. The impression one wishes to make, too, may dictate the gown. Be careful of color and line when you want to impress men. Be careful of fashion and finishing details when you want to impress women."

TO TRY SCOUTS FOR BOLSHEVISM

Over 500 Philippine Soldiers Involved in Military Trial at Manila

Secret Soldiers' Union Formed, is Charge—Arrested For Inciting Mutiny

MANILA, July 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—A revision of plans for the military trial of Philippine Scouts accused of insubordination in connection with alleged Bolshevik activities at Fort McKinley, recently, in a broadening of the proceedings, took in more than 500 men, it was announced today.

Work of investigation in connection with the trials has been completed and the accused divided into three groups. The trials, instead of beginning July 25, as announced, will begin July 28. Three courts are to be set up for the hearings instead of two, as had been planned. There will be a court to try the 15 alleged leaders in the movement, which included leaders refusal to perform duty, the formation of a secret soldiers' union, intended to seek equalization of pay with white soldiers.

Brig. Gen. Douglas MacArthur already has been named to hear this court. The chief charge against these is inciting a mutiny. A second body will convene to hear the trial of 209 members of the Philippine soldiers charged with joining a mutiny.

A third court to hear charges against 288 other scouts in whose cases the alleged refusal to obey orders was modified or abandoned during preliminary examination. Previously it had not been expected this latter group would be brought before a court.

PARDONED EDITOR STILL CONFINED

EAST LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 23.—Still incarcerated in the San Miguel county jail, although executive clemency was extended him, Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque publisher, today awaited trial by the state supreme court on a writ of habeas corpus that he hopes will bring him freedom. Following his conviction yesterday in District Judge Leahy's court on contempt of court charges, Magee was sentenced to three months in jail.

Sheriff Delgado refused to release the publisher last night, after receiving notification that Gov. J. F. Hinkle had pardoned Magee as he did in the case of a former conviction a year ago in Judge Leahy's court. The sheriff has refused to release Magee on the ground that the governor had not pardon power in the case of direct contempt.

Magee's imprisonment is the result of a long fight he had waged through his newspaper against what he has referred to editorially as "corruption of courts," and other alleged state governmental misdemeanors. The first contempt of court charges were preferred against him more than a year ago as a result of editorials attacking J. W. French, chief justice of the New Mexico supreme court.

The first trial resulted in Magee's conviction on four criminal libel counts in Leahy's court and the subsequent imposition of fines aggregating more than $4000 and jail sentences totalling 380 days.

On this occasion Gov. Hinkle extended executive clemency. When Magee was declared guilty yesterday he said in his statement to the court:

"I deny that I have been accorded due process of law and I deny this is a court."

Judge Leahy then declared him in direct contempt and imposed a three months' jail sentence to run concurrently with the sentences imposed in the two counts in which he was found guilty.

The Albuquerque editor has headed a fight against state governmental control by what he has termed political cliques and factions. He met with financial reverses that caused him to relinquish his hold on the Albuquerque Journal and later started a weekly newspaper, known as Magee's Independent, which later became a daily under the name of the New Mexico State Tribune.

BUT THEY KNOW EACH OTHER

By N.E.A. Service
OMAHA, July 23.—The minister will have to be sure he is wearing his spectacles when he marries Loren McKie and Verna Scoville.
For without his "charters" he is liable to see double and make Verna the wife of Lawrence McKie and Loren the husband of Vera Scoville.
Loren and Lawrence are twins. So are Verna and Vera.
Loren and Verna are engaged. So are Lawrence and Vera.
The two couples are going to have a double wedding. It will be a fitting climax, they think, to a double courtship.

The two sets of twins met three years ago when Loren and Lawrence, then on the DeWitt (Neb.) high school basketball team, played at Peru, Neb., where Verna and Vera were attending school.
At the banquet given the visiting team, partners were drawn. And the twins drew twins.
"Mother, look what we found—twins who match just as much as we do," shouted the girls, when the McKie twins escorted them home.
Strange as it may seem, each of the boys generally knew which he was courtship. And each of the girls generally knew which of the McKies she had a date with.

True, Loren once sat down beside Vera in a street car when he meant to sit beside Verna.
And once it took the girls nearly a whole breakfast hour before they discovered who was who after the boys had swapped ties.
But—
"Well, if the preacher gets us mixed," declares Loren, "he'll have to do it right over again."
Loren and Lawrence live in Omaha. They are 22, Verna and Vera, 21, reside here in Lowell.

CHELSEA'S MUNICIPAL GAS STATION BUSY

Chelsea's "s" was started off like a jubilee yesterday morning, when 147 customers appeared at municipal station No. 1, as it may be named some day, in the city yards in 5th street, and purchased a total of 221 gallons of gas. Motorists came in a steady stream, not only from Chelsea, but also from places as far away as Medford, Malden, Watertown and Arlington.
Mayor Lawrence P. Quigley was on hand to see that business boomed, and he said later that it was, in fact, "wonderful." He was right on the job every time a customer drove in to investigate the big sign, Mayor Quigley's Gasoline Station, 17c Gal.
Assisting his honor was Rep. J. F. Donovan, from the 23d Suffolk district. Mr. Donovan grabbed a gasoline crank and hung on to it for four hours, pumping reduced-rate fuel into the tanks of long-suffering riders. Hugh J. McLaughlin helped Mr. Donovan whenever the press of business grew great.
Mayor Quigley's secretary, Miss Esther Minniz, stopped down to the filling station during her lunch hour and declared that she had been besieged

SAYS REVOLUTION IS MAKING HEADWAY

MONTEVIDEO, July 23 (By the Associated Press).—The captain of the Greek steamer Andros, which arrived Tuesday from Santos, declared that the Sao Paulo revolution is gathering strength and apparently triumphing despite official denials of the Brazilian government.
The Andros' captain said that he was unable to finish unloading his vessel at Santos owing to the bombardment of the Brazilian dreadnought, Minas Geraes, by rebel aviators.

ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD CALLED

MOUNTAIN CITY, Ill., July 23.—Following a series of more escapes from mobs which twice threatened their lives, three negroes tested today behind the safe walls of the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., harrowed by their experience. The three were arrested early yesterday as suspects in connection with the slaying of Dan Wilson, pretty 18-year-old Villa Ridge girl, and were taken to Joliet after the jail at Mount City, and later at Mount City, were surrounded by threatening mobs.
Gov. Small ordered the immediate mobilization of Company K, 150th Infantry, to proceed here and aid county authorities in restoring order.

NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH LAWRENCE GIRL DROWNS

Beautiful House of Worship To Be Erected in Chelmsford Soon
Her Companion—Diver Recovers Body
LAWRENCE, July 23.—While bathing in the Merrimack river near Riverside park yesterday afternoon, 11-year-old Anna Durbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Durbin of 35 Oxford street, went beyond her depth and was drowned. The body was later recovered by Joseph Tardoff, who dove for it.
John Sandler, 15, of 12 Crosby street, reported to the police that he saw the girl and a companion struggling in the water and that he tried to save them, but failed to get the other girl out of the water, he said, but the Durbin girl did not cling to him as he told her to.

The premier event before construction work begins on the proposed new church in Chelmsford in September will take place on the church grounds on Aug. 14 when a gala field day will be held in the form of a lawn party. Energetic committees, under the general management of Frank W. Foye, are now at work perfecting plans for the big feature, and everything points to a most successful affair.
The proceeds of the lawn party will be added to the new church building fund, which Catholic residents of

U. S. AVIATORS SHOP FOR ARCTIC TOGS

BROOKLYN, Eng., July 23 (By the Associated Press).—The American world fliers were working hard in the hands here preparing their three planes for the trans-Atlantic flight. While four of the fliers busied themselves converting the machines to sea-planes, Lieutenants Harding and Ogden went to London to buy Arctic flying togs for themselves and their companions.
On the homeward hop each man is reducing his kit to the very minimum, and one of two of them is inclined to go so far as to leave their razors behind. They expect to cross the Atlantic without a change of clothes, as woolens would weigh as much as several gallons of the more necessary gasoline.

EXPECT SURPRISE IN LEOPOLD-LOEB CASE

CHICAGO, July 23.—(By the Associated Press).—The sons of two of Chicago's oldest and wealthiest families, Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, went "on the merry of the court" today in a case scarcely paralleled in any jurisprudence.
The big question was whether all the cards had been laid on the table, or whether their attorneys, Clarence Darrow, famous fighter in notable criminal cases, held something back on Monday when he stunned even the prosecution by having his clients plead guilty to kidnapping and murdering 14-year-old Robert Frank.
Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, expects to occupy about two weeks in attempting to prove that the two university men, with their remarkable scholarly records, were sane, and that both should hang.

ENTERTAINMENT AT LOCAL PLAYGROUND

The Washington playground saw a record-breaking attendance yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the Doll Buggy. The carriages with their radiant and proud little owners were numerous and Mrs. Josephine Grant, the judge, found considerable difficulty in choosing the winner. The prize was finally awarded to Miss Alice Mae Cummings whose carriage was cleverly decorated in the national colors. Following the parade, a very entertaining program was given by some of the playground children, consisting of the following:

The program several of the old favorites will be played, while there will also be several of the modern numbers featured. The admission will be 10 cents, with six dance checks for 25 cents. STREET RAILWAY EMPLOYEES' OUTING

The annual outing of the Lowell street railway employees took place today. About 60 members of the employees' office, the superintendent's office, the operating office and the track department of the Lowell street railway, went by automobile to Nahant, where dinner was served. Following dinner the party went to Lynn beach for games and bathing. The party was in order for the afternoon and the greater portion of the party spent several hours on the beach. Supper will be served in Lynn and then all will go to Lowell for dancing and amusements. The party will return to Lowell about 11 p. m.
Mr. Maurice McCormick, manager of the Lowell division of the street railway, is in charge of the outing.

CURLEY WASHES HANDS OF HARVARD BRIDGE

BOSTON, July 23.—Since the Metropolitan District Commission has taken what he deems a high-handed course in the reconstruction of Harvard bridge, Mayor Curley last night informed Chairman James M. Bailey of that commission, in effect, that it and the state must bear responsibility for any accident or legal snarl that may attend execution of the work, as well as bear the brunt of what he thinks will be popular disapproval of the commission's decision to close the bridge to all traffic throughout the renovation period.
Mr. Curley's letter was in response to a written solicitation by the commission of a vote by the Boston and Cambridge bridges commission endorsing the Metropolitan District commission's decision to close the bridge to all traffic throughout the renovation period.
The mayor sanctions the advice of Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Bourke, Boston's member of the bridges commission, that such a seconding vote be refused. As commissioner for Cambridge, Francis J. Smith presumably sides with Messrs. Curley and Bourke on this issue.

CANOE VICTIM'S BODY FOUND IN CREEK

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 23.—The body of Clinton Nordquist, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nordquist, was found floating in Ash creek early today, by Police Sergeant John F. Cassidy.
Ash creek is about two miles from the place where seven children are believed to have been drowned from a canoe last Thursday.
This is the fourth body to be recovered. The bodies of Ernest Peterson, Walter Bergquist and Florence Benson were found yesterday.
Search for the bodies of Ethel Bergquist, 11; Alva Nordquist, 12, and Alva Anderson, 14, the other three children, is still in progress.
The seven children started out in a canoe from St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Thursday, and the overturned canoe was found floating in the sound the following day.

HEAVY STORMS ALONG COASTS OF FRANCE

PARIS, July 23.—Heavy storms have raged on the west and south coasts of France, seas running exceptionally high and a number of fishing craft are missing.
Lightning wrought havoc in the Montpeller region and several houses at Laure were struck by lightning and burned. A number of olive groves were destroyed by hail. Serious damage was inflicted to the farming region of Lyon and the vineyards bordering Switzerland. The vicinity of Geneva also suffered.
At Royan the waves swept a girl of seven off her feet and she was rapidly being carried out to sea when Pierre Taittinger, a deputy of the Parisian constituency, leaped in and rescued her with great difficulty.

OLYMPIC CYCLE RACES COMMENCE

PARIS, July 23 (By the Associated Press).—Seventy-two bicyclists, representing 22 nations, started this morning the first event of the Olympic cycling competition, the 188 kilometre race. Four riders from the United States were among those making the get-away at two minute intervals in the Colombes stadium. They were Victor Hopkins, Ignatius Groukowsky, John Bouckaert and Gus Hentschel. The race distance is equivalent to approximately 117 miles.

MONEY FOR HIGHWAY

Middlesex County commissioners have notified the Billerica selectmen that the town has been allotted the sum of $3000 to be used for partial payment in the proposed reconstruction of the old turnpike highway in Billerica. The state has declined to award a similar amount this year, but the town expects to go ahead with the work now that the county has agreed to render substantial aid.

Disastrous Collision in Fog
Between Liner and Freighter is Described

No Semblance of Panic as Passengers Manned the Life-Saving Appliances

NEWPORT, R. I., July 22.—The meeting in the fog off Point Judith early today of the Boston, coastwise liner with hundreds of persons aboard, and the Swift Arrow tanker, whose blow amidships imperilled their lives, was described by Chief Officer A. C. Morton of the Boston, whose home is in the Dorchester district of Boston. The calm of passengers, women and men, in the exciting moments of the early morning, the manner in which the water-tight compartments functioned to keep the Boston above water, and save lives; and the success with which the transfer of hundreds of passengers to other vessels was accomplished, with loss of life only in the collision itself, were emphasized in his story.

Mr. Green was taken to a hospital here suffering from a shoulder injury and from shock. He had not been informed of his wife's death. He and Mrs. Green occupied stateroom 48, which was at the point of the Boston's side where the prow of the tanker struck. Mrs. Green was killed instantly.

The three bodies brought on the Boston were brought ashore this afternoon by a navy tug. The coroner first paid a visit to the ship. Examination of the Swift Arrow later showed that a large hole had been torn in her bow above the water line. She left her anchorage this afternoon and proceeded for Fall River, arriving there shortly after.

Mrs. James H. Hinchey of New York, who was a passenger on the Plymouth, bound to New Bedford, said she was on the Boston, who were brought aboard that vessel apparently took matters very calmly and she saw no evidence of hysteria.

Many complained of the loss of their effects, however, and were impatient when the Plymouth, after taking off her quota of the Boston passengers, stood by endeavoring to get a tow line to the damaged vessel. In the fog, however, this was found to be impracticable and after considerable delay the Plymouth resumed her voyage to Fall River.

CAIRO, Ill., July 22.—A mob of approximately 300 men formed in Pulaski county today, apparently bent on lynching two negroes tentatively identified as the slayers of Daisy Wilson, 18, in an attempted holdup of her father's store near Mounds, shortly after midnight.

RAILROAD MEN VOTE TO IGNORE SUBPOENAS OF LABOR BOARD

Engineers' Brotherhood Heads Confer at Chicago With
National Officers—Will Not Attend Board Hearing
Scheduled to Be Held Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 23.—General chairmen representing firemen and engineers on nearly all railroads west of Chicago convened today with their national officers to determine procedure against the assumption of jurisdiction by the railroad labor board over their wage dispute with the railroad management.

L. G. Griffing, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, were here for the conference. If they vote to ignore subpoenas served by United States marshals and issued by the board and decide to absent themselves from the scheduled hearing Thursday, the board probably will invoke the aid of the United States district court.

Spokesmen for the organizations have indicated their desire to test the assumption of jurisdiction in the courts.

INQUEST HEARINGS BY JUDGE PICKMAN

Two inquests on recent deaths were conducted by Judge Pickman in the court of second sessions this morning. The hearing had to do with the death of James F. Joubert, the youngster who was knocked down and killed by an automobile on July 10, and Maurice Bernard, a Boston and Maine carhop employee, who was struck and killed by a pipe-bending machine at the Billerica shops on the same date.

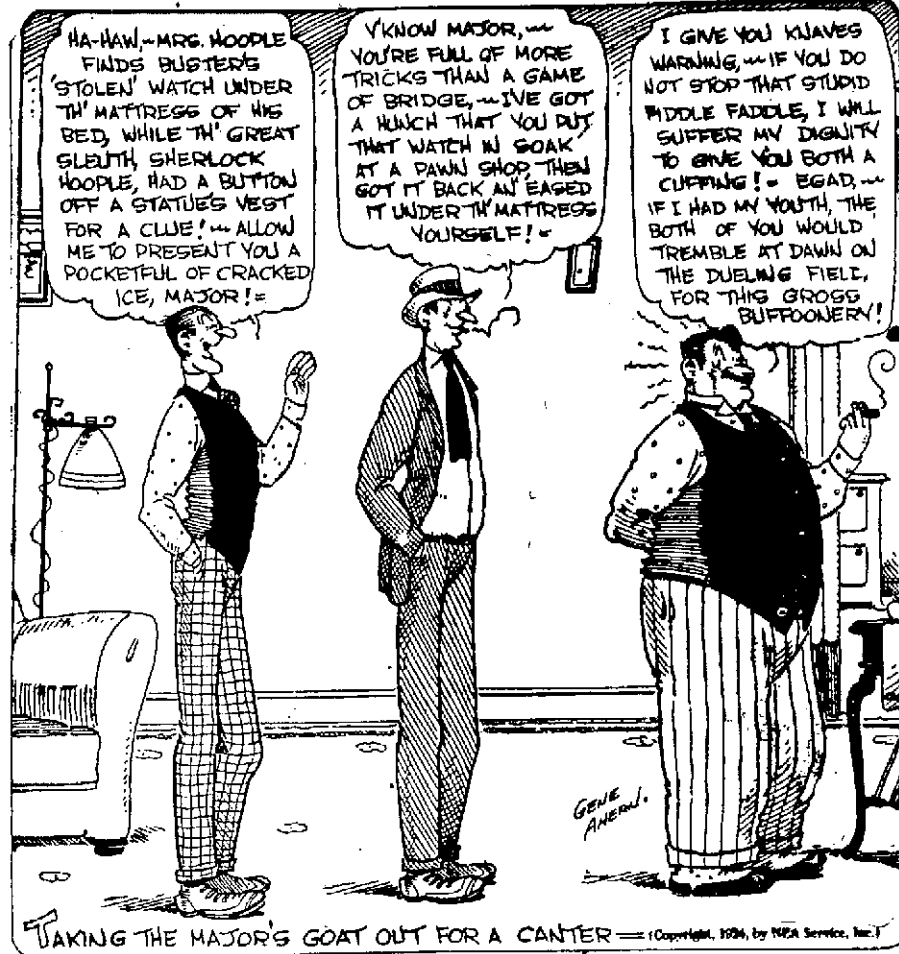

Young Joubert met his death when struck by an automobile operated by John Keough at the corner of Bridge street and Lakewood avenue. He resided in West Third street, while Bernard made his home in Third street.

RAILWAY MEN WILL HOLD JOINT OUTING

A joint outing of the Lowell and Lawrence "blue uniform" men of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company will be held August 18. The place of the outing has not been definitely decided upon but will probably be Juniper park, Methuen.

At two meetings of the Lowell local of the street railway men's union yesterday, the outing committee's report, advocating the above date and place was accepted, subject to the Lawrence local's approval.

The outing committee of the Lowell local is as follows: T. J. Powers, chairman; Donat Primeau, Wm. E. Harrington, Henry Hamer, Arthur Clancy and Patrick Fels.

APPEALS TO BUSINESS WOMEN TO CONTINUE AID TO EDUCATION

National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is Addressed By Indianapolis Banker—
Sees Threat in Vocationalism

WEST BADEN, Ind., July 23.—Hope that the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs will continue to use its influence on the side of liberal education and that its "influence will be in opposition to the threatening absorption of our schools in an encroaching vocationalism," was expressed by Evans Woollen, Indianapolis banker, in an address prepared for delivery before the women's organization today.

"Vocational training," he said, "is a supplement and not a substitute. It is the substitution that is challenged."

"Business needs several things more than it needs vocational training of any other kind of 'practical' education. First it needs character. And then it needs the capacity to think with concentration and precision. If to these is added the habit of work, then nothing else much matters."

OUTING WAS BIG SUCCESS YOUTHFUL GUESTS OF LOWELL ROTARIANS HAD WONDERFUL TIME IN TYNGSBORO

Lowell Rotary clubmen's "biggest and best" children's outing at Martin Luther picnic grounds, Tyngsboro, yesterday, was all anyone could hope for. It was actually the greatest event of its kind ever conducted by the Dutton street charitable organization that is always doing an amount for the youth of Lowell, every month in the year. Yesterday's record-breaking outing and field day, attended by more than 700 orphans representing six different Lowell charitable organizations, was an eye-opener for rare delights from start to finish.

From the start of the attractive street parade shortly after 11 a. m., to the reluctant return home just before dark, the boys and girls who were guests of the day of Lowell Rotarians, had the time of their lives gambooling in the Tyngsboro open spaces and under the shade trees, revelling in games galore, partaking of tasty box lunches and ice cream, milk and orangeade in vast quantities.

The parade to Tyngsboro was without special incident, few hats being necessary. When the happy travelers reached the picnic grounds, they were greeted by a big force of state police, under the leadership of Harry Hoyt. Boy scouts watched the roads and the river banks and did other police duty during the afternoon. Bathing was forbidden, but the guard Joe Nolin hung around, closely watching for violations of the edict and finding none.

Major Walter R. Jeyes had charge of the park traffic, policing the grounds while the automobiles entered and parked.

Among the liberal Lowell merchants who contributed, free of charge, food and other supplies for the picnic were: Freeman M. Bill, Turner Centre Creamery, Lowell Milk Dealers' Association and Horace Proctor. Miss Martha Gage presented the Rotarians with a ton and one-half of ice, a generous gift also greatly appreciated by the Rotarians.

There was an impromptu ball game staged between teams captained by Chairman Harry Pitts and former president "Bob" Thomson of the Rotary club. Mayor Donovan was umpire. The home team won, 5 to 2, the manager practically winning his own game.

The rural circus also performed, with a pony and three monkeys exhibiting.

Girls from the playground supervisory staff, under the direction of Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department, had charge of the games program. They were Misses Ellen McEroy, Helen Connery, Helen Coughlin, Mary Dowd, Ruth Whelan, Ruth Sheldon, Anna Rynne, Lucy Desmond and Mary Coffey. Vincent McCartin, playground director, assisted.

The committee in charge of the outing was as follows: Harry Pitts, chairman; Dr. Marshall L. Alling, Xavier A. Delisle, Maj. Walter R. Jeyes, Harry G. Pollard, Paul A. Read, Ivan O. Small, Alvin H. Weaver, Clarence M. Weed, Richard J. Welch, Carl B. Wenckmann, Fred E. Jones, James E. Moody, P. Leroy Parchert and President Arthur C. Spalding.

VISITOR FROM TORONTO
Mr. Harry Young, formerly of this city and now of Toronto, Canada, is renewing old acquaintances here after an absence of twelve years. Harry is with the Canadian General Electric company in Toronto. He thinks Canada is the greatest country under the sun and he says the people are just as good as the country.

LOWELL YOUNG MEN GOING TO DEVENS

The complete list of Lowell young men—27 in all—who will respond to the call of the colors for the 1924 citizens' military training camp routine, starting at Camp Devens, Saturday, August 2, is as follows:

Loran Danforth Barrows, 3 West View street; James MacDonald Burns, 243 Rogers street; Butler Dana Burge, 65 Harvard street; Carleton W. Carpenter, 175 Princeton street; Frederick B. Duggale, 12 Victoria street; Barrett Fisher, 92 Holyrood avenue; Richard Frank Gray, 291 Foster street; Edward Jennison Hall, 355 Wilde street; Henry Arnold Hanson, 203 West London street; Charles Churn Howard, 4 Barton avenue; Robert Allan Johnston, 118 Sanders avenue; Robert Donald Judge, 64 Vermont street; Thurlow MacBryne, 6 Belmont street; Clarence A. MacCallum, 233 Princeton street; Desmond McElholm, 465 Westford street; Gerard McQuinn, 21 Albert street; Ter Flemming Myers, 37 Arlington street; William Pearson, 69 Clitheroe street; William H. Welch, 70 Livingston avenue; Paul Roland Whitworth, 238 Wilder street; David Richard Zell, 2 Osgood street.

Brig. Gen. Malvern Hill Barnum, camp commander, announced that 250 reserve officers from all over New England, now in camp, will instruct the group of "C.M.T.C." students for the entire month of August. This is of particular interest, as it is a brand new departure, the instructors heretofore having been regular army officers, with a sprinkling of National Guard officers. Three Lowell citizens are included in the reserve officers' camp now in session, and Lowell officers will assist in training the "C.M.T.C." students from this city and other sections of the state at large.

The reserve officer instructors this year are all business men, who are giving 30 days of their time to the "C.M.T.C." tour of duty for one month inclusive. Some of them may be training their own sons. Gen. Barnum predicts that this will be the beginning of a movement by which the training of the students, leaving the regular army officers to handle the officers' schools and other details of a purely military nature.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE TOMORROW AFTERNOON

On Thursday afternoon, July 24, 1924, at 1 O'clock, on the premises on the boulevard from Billerica Centre to Bedford, I will sell the real estate of the late John W. Grady at Public Auction. The property consists of 25 acres or more of excellent land with the buildings thereon. The dwelling is a two and one-half story house of about 10 rooms. There is a good barn and some very fine outbuildings used for poultry. This is an excellent country place. The sale will be absolute and to the highest bidder. There is a bank mortgage on the premises which may remain. Few places like this one are placed on sale at auction.

The place is reached by auto by going to Billerica Centre and taking the Bedford road, two and seven-tenths miles from Billerica Centre, and is just about at the South Billerica station.

Street cars from Billerica to Bedford go by the door. Get off at South Billerica station.

Terms will be made known at the sale. Rain or shine.

JOHN J. HAYES,
Auctioneer.

CHARITY DEPARTMENT ORDINANCE OPERATIVE

The first step by the city charity department towards putting into effect the ordinance recently passed by the city council relative to the distribution of food and fuel to the city's poor was taken this morning when the charity department delivered to the purchasing agent requisitions for a large quantity of foodstuffs and wood.

As the requisition was incomplete in the opinion of the purchasing agent, it was returned to the charity department and it is believed another will be presented this afternoon with details requested by the purchasing agent.

Under the provision of the new ordinance, contracts for foodstuffs and fuel will be let by the city to local concerns and persons dependent upon the city for supplies will be given slips good for a certain amount of goods. Under the old plan, the city charity department delivered foodstuffs and fuel to the homes of the poor.

The new ordinance was advocated by many local charity organizations, and met with general favor when introduced to the city council.

Chief Saunders Wants Fire Investigated

rear of the store, for when firemen arrived the whole rear section was a mass of flames and thick clouds of smoke were pouring from the front of the store and into the tenements above.

Because of the smoke and extreme heat of the flames, it was impossible for firemen to enter the building and three hose lines from the front doorway of the store were directed on the flames. Within ten minutes after the hose lines were put into operation, the fire was sufficiently subdued for firemen to get inside the store, but it was not until nearly an hour after the alarm was sounded that Chief Saunders ordered the recall.

The rear of the store was completely gutted by the fire and a considerable quantity of the stock in the front of the store was damaged by smoke and water. The fire was stopped before getting into the tenements above the store but they were damaged to a slight extent by smoke.

Serjt. Blagow of the police department and Chief Saunders conducted an investigation immediately after the recall was sounded and claim to have found two gallon-cans which smelled strongly of kerosene oil. An occupant of one of the tenements told the investigators that she had seen a man whom she could not identify leaving the store a short while before the fire was discovered. As the origin of the fire seemed suspicious, Chief Saunders notified the state fire marshal's office this morning and requested a thorough investigation by state police officers.

TAXICAB RATES HIT NEW LOW IN NEW YORK WAR

NEW YORK, July 23.—A taxicab rate war, which started two days ago with a reduction in fare of approximately 25 per cent, was continued today with another cut by four important taxicab companies which announced a flat rate of 20 cents a mile. Before the rate war began the minimum rate was forty cents for the first mile and 30 cents a mile thereafter.

Many of the cabs have signs advertising the new rates as the lowest anywhere in the country.

DAWES PLAN WILL BE GIVEN A TRIAL

LONDON, July 23 (by the Associated Press).—The inter-allied conference will undoubtedly be successful and the Dawes plan will be given its chance to solve Europe's economic ills despite the present differences between bankers and the conference delegates over guarantees for the 440,000,000 German loan, a leading American financier today told the Associated Press before sailing for home after having for several days been in the closest touch with conference proceedings.

This authority, who has followed the Dawes plan since its inception, declared there was no question among bankers regarding the existence of ample guarantees which will insure the comparatively small sum required for the service of the loan. The problem is, he added, to reduce the potential guarantees to definite forms which will stand as a solid basis of credit.

FIRE CHIEF SAYS ALARM SIGNAL SYSTEM IS DANGEROUS

Saunders Will Ask Council for Sufficient Money to Proceed With Installation of New System—Present System Cannot Be Depended Upon

The condition of the fire alarm signal system has reached the danger point, according to Fire Chief Saunders, and unless a new system is installed in the near future it will be unsafe to depend upon the present system to do its duty. To remedy this condition, Chief Saunders said today he would request the city government in the near future to appropriate sufficient money to go ahead with the installation of a new system.

From day to day, said the chief, circuits throughout the city are reported out of order and only last week the Centralville circuit literally went to pieces. Investigation into the cause of the latter circuit's failure to operate led to the discovery by Capt. Con-

BURGLARS BIND AND GAG WOMAN THEN SET HER HOME AFIRE

Rob Landlady of Syracuse, N. Y., Apartment House and Make Good Their Escape—Firemen Overcome Attempting to Save Endangered Lives

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 23.—The entire Syracuse police department was mobilized today in an attempt to trace two burglars who this morning forced an entrance to the Lenox apartment house, bound and gagged Miss Frances Stabb, 34, and after taking a small sum of money from her room, set fire to the house.

The lives of Miss Stabb and four roomers in the house were endangered as the flames rapidly swept through the apartment, and in trying to rescue the people several firemen were overcome by gas fumes and narrowly escaped death. The fire was on its way to the first floor when firemen reached the building. They found that Miss

Stabb had been carried to the front porch by roomers. One of the men in the house, trapped on the second floor, was rescued by firemen.

The incomplete story which Miss Stabb was able to tell has all the qualities of a movie thriller. Miss Stabb awoke to find two masked men conversing in low tones and she screamed, but the sound was not heard by the other roomers. She was then gagged and bound hand and foot, and the men took $70 in rent money in an adjoining room.

"We must cover up our tracks," Miss Stabb heard one of them say as they left, and Miss Stabb saw no more of them.

LEOPOLD AND LOEB IN COURT AS CHIEF JUSTICE OPENS CASE

Letter Introduced Showing Youthful Slayers Considered Franks Abduction "Purely Commercial Proposition"—Leopold Maintains Stoical Front, But Loeb is Nervous

CHICAGO, July 23 (By the Associated Press).—The kidnapping of 14-year-old Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, was a strictly "commercial proposition," the abductors wrote in their first letter to the father of their victim.

The letter was read today in the opening of the hearing before Chief Justice Caverly to determine the penalty the two college youths shall pay for the death of young Franks, to which for the second time they affirmed today their lawyer's plea of guilty.

Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb came into court for the final act in the big criminal drama, at 10.03 a.m., court opening promptly at 10 a.m. Leopold appeared unconcerned. Loeb was pale and an almost startled

Baltimore Youth Wanted on Murder Charge Makes Good His Escape

Forces Three Locks in Cell of City Prison and Steals Pistol

BALTIMORE, E., July 23.—George Gross, one of the four youths convicted last month for the murder of Louis Cohen, Baltimore jeweler, feigned his guard and escaped from the city jail about 2.15 o'clock this morning. In making his escape Gross stole a pistol from the guard and then jumped over the jail wall.

Robert Emerson, the guard, was knocked on the head by Gross with an iron bar and then locked in the escaped man's cell. He was unconscious for some time after he was located, and late this morning it was impossible to get an accurate account of just what transpired at the escape.

Bernard J. Lee, warden at the jail, said this morning that an iron leg in the cell in Gross' cell had been used by the prisoner to force his way from the cell and also to tell the guard.

In making his escape, Warden Lee said, Gross had to force three locks on the cell door.

BROCKTON WORKERS

ASK CONFERENCE

BROCKTON, July 23.—The members of the vapers, skivers, sole leather workers, cutters, treers and mixed unions today have asked for a conference with the Brockton Shoe Manufacturers association relative to the proposed 10 per cent reduction asked by the manufacturers.

There are 11 locals in all, and word from the other five is expected within a few days.

It is expected that most of the unions, sensing conditions in the shoe industry, will agree to the request in the main. The manufacturers voluntarily gave a 10 per cent increase last fall and want this concession back dating from Oct. 15 of this year.

Miss Mary Lyons, residing at 82 Hanks street, received a telegram last night informing her that her brother, Rev. John H. Lyons, was safe in New York after being rescued from the ill-fated S. S. Boston at Point Judith yesterday morning.

Rev. Fr. Lyons is pastor of St. Bridget's church in Abington, where Rev. Fr. Sullivan, an assistant, also received word that Fr. Lyons was safe, having been landed there by the steamer Priscilla of the Fall River line.

Fr. Lyons is very well known in Lowell and visits here with his sisters every week. They are overjoyed that he is among the survivors of the thrilling episode.

DROWNED WHILE BATHING

Rev. Bro. Taillon, O. M. I., Met Death in Pond Near Nashua Last Evening

The waters of an unnamed pond situated between Hudson and Nashua, N. H., was the scene of a tragic drowning early last evening, when Rev. Bro. Taillon, O.M.I. of Sackatchewan, Canada, a novice in the Oblate novitiate in Hudson, over which Very Rev. Eugene Turcotte, O.M.I. of this city has jurisdiction as provincial, met his death in six feet of water. The physician who examined the body after it had been recovered attributed death to heart failure and drowning.

When the news of the young novice's death reached this city, Very Rev. Fr. Turcotte made a hurried trip to Hudson to make arrangements for the funeral. It was announced today that burial will take place tomorrow morning in St. Joseph's cemetery, Lowell, following a solemn high mass of requiem at 3 o'clock in St. Jean Baptiste church.

The regrettable feature in Rev. Bro. Taillon's death lies in the fact that he had but one and one-half months to go before completing his novitiate and taking up the theological course preparatory to ordination to the priesthood. He was regarded as an unusually keen student and was extremely popular with his associates.

The fatality occurred almost without warning. Brother Taillon was enjoying a dip in the pond with three other brothers from the novitiate. He was a fairly good swimmer and when he reached deep water no fear for his safety was expressed. Suddenly he was seen to throw up his hands, utter a slight cry and sink beneath the surface. His companions shortly recovered the body, but found that life was extinct.

BAR HARBOR BOAT AGROUND

Has Between 200 and 300 Passengers, Many of Them Staying Aboard

Accident Occurred at Low Tide—Ship is Expected to Clear Herself

ROCKLAND, Me., July 23.—The passenger steamer James T. Morse, of the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., which left here early today for Bar Harbor, struck on Crotch Island, near the entrance to Stonington Harbor, shortly after 8 o'clock in a thick fog. Some of the passengers were landed in boats. None was in danger.

The steam lighter Sophia happened along and went to the assistance of the stranded steamer. The tug Somers N. Smith was ordered out from here, taking along F. S. Sherman, superintendent of the division. The steamer was proceeding slowly in the fog and probably grounded on a reef in the vicinity of the Granite quarrying settlement.

The steamer was undamaged and as she struck at low tide, it was expected she would be quickly floated by the flood tide within a few hours. She was resting easily. The steam lighter Sophia was standing up to offer assistance if necessary and the tug Somers N. Smith was ordered out from Rockland.

The steamer was proceeding cautiously in a very thick fog when she fetched up on the rock near Crotch Island, about two steamer lengths off her course.

Passengers for Stonington and nearby points were landed in boats. Those bound east to Bar Harbor, Northeast Harbor and Southwest Harbor, remained aboard the steamer as she was expected to proceed as soon as floated. The greater part of the passengers were for the Mount Desert points.

BANGOR, Me., July 23.—Pleading guilty to charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, H. P. Burpee and Charles A. The respondents signified their intention of accepting the fine as penalty for the conspiracy.

The cases were the result of seizures by federal officers at Vauclaire, on Dec. 13 last, of 500 cases of whisky concealed with a shipment of 200 cases of sardines.

COMMISSIONER WALSH HOLDS LOCAL MEN ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Lengthy Session of Court Includes Hearing on Charges Resulting From Raid on Near-Beer Establishment in Bridge Street—Several Lawrence Cases Disposed Of

One of the longest sessions of the court of United States Commissioner Richard B. Walsh held this year involved two lengthy hearings and the disposition of several other cases at the Gorman street court house today.

Testimony from three federal agents and two defendants was heard in the case involving James J. Kennedy, Edward Cunningham and Daniel A. Whelan on charges of illegal sale and possession at a near beer establishment at 55 Bridge street, on June 25. Probable cause was found against Kennedy and he was held in $400 for the federal district court. Cunningham was discharged because of no evidence to show that he aided in the sale and Whelan's discharge came solely because of his age, which he gave as 13 years.

In discharging him, Commissioner Walsh said it was only because he did not wish to send a boy before the federal court for trial.

During the testimony of Federal Agent W. H. Sullivan he declared that when the raid was in progress Whelan jumped on his back and attempted to prevent him from securing a bottle of liquor being held by Kennedy. He said Whelan refused to give his name and was "fresh." The other two defendants denied that Whelan worked at 55 Bridge street, but Agents Sullivan and Bowditch testified that he told them he worked there.

According to Agent Bowditch, he went to 55 Bridge street for the first time on May 24. He was accompanied by an unknown man. He said he asked Kennedy for "some good liquor." Kennedy directed him toward a back room and there served two drinks from a bottle he took out of his pocket. Bowditch paid 50 cents per drink, he testified.

On June 25 Agent Bowditch entered the place for the second time and said he asked Cunningham, who was behind the bar for a drink.

"Cunningham said he did not know me," Bowditch testified.

He then told of being allowed to enter the back room by Kennedy, who poured him a drink from a bottle passed to him by Whelan. He had the drink in his hand when Agents Sullivan and Hall entered the room.

Agent Sullivan said in giving testimony that he had gone into the premises on complaints. He saw one man sitting in a chair in the back room in a state of complete intoxication. He said Whelan jumped on his back and he tossed him off.

"I asked him his name," said Sullivan, "and he replied, 'None of your business.'"

Murray, will himself play the role of "Danilo," a continental military officer from a noble family, and the last work in gawky, is the last work in gawky. He presents one of the most vivid and significant picture assignments of the year. The role will enhance the reputation of any recognized star, and will establish any lesser light, who may be selected. That may be taken for granted in Von Stroheim's direction. Others whose names are being mentioned are Norman Kerry, Ramon Novarro, Huntley Gordon, John Gilbert, Robert Frazer, Malcolm MacGregor and William Haines. The nominee must have distinguished bearing. He must have a personality certain to win audience sympathy, even though he is the epitome of suave devilry, as well as captivating the characters with whom he comes into conflict in the picture. He must have the assured manner and the finished insouciance of the continental military man and gallant. Set an easy order for the casting gods to fill. Judging from past performances, Von Stroheim and Norman Kerry would most precisely fit the role. "Von's" origin, training and background make him a close alias of "Danilo." The noted director, military attaché at Cetinje, capital of Montenegro, locale of the first part of the story; he has lived in many European courts; he was schooled in the atmosphere investing "The Merry Widow."

Another who would grace the role, although I do not know if he is a candidate, is Adolphe Menjou. Immediately upon signing the contract to direct Mae Murray—who should make a gorgeous "Merry Widow"—Von Stroheim went into literary hibernation in the California mountains. To remain, he announced, until he had finished the film version of the famous light opera. This will be the first picture of some time in which Mae Murray has not been directed by her husband, Robert Z. Leonard.

PRISCILLA DID BRUNT OF WORK

Survivors Tell Surprising
Tales of Coolness Manifested by Passengers

NEW YORK, July 23.—Smiling faces and thankfulness that the fortunes of sea had been their favor were expressed by the survivors of the steamer Boston, rammed off Point Judith, R. I., who were returned here yesterday. They came on the steamer Providence and Providence of the Fall River Line.

The passenger list of the Boston bore 640 names. The Providence and Priscilla rescued 525. Four are known to be dead. The rest were saved by other vessels and taken to New England ports.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Silbert scanned the crowds from the two boats until the passengers had been landed. As they returned to their home they learned through a telegram from Newport, R. I., that their daughter, Mrs. Oscar Green, a bride on her honeymoon, was one of the four crushed in her berth by the bow of the Swift Arrow as it shattered the side of the Boston.

All the survivors were thankful for the calmness of the night, the sea with hardly a ripple, the perfect discipline of the other passengers, and the quick answer to call for help. The rule of the sea, women and children first, was said to have been rigorously observed.

Herman Redfield of Roxbury, Mass., told of an incident when the cool-headedness of three girls, whose names were not learned, served as an antidote to possible panic. He said that soon after the crash, passengers who ran on deck were surprised to see three girls dancing to the music of a phonograph. Others joined them and temporary distraction kept many passengers occupied until the lights went out and the more serious work of rescue was undertaken.

Wrecking Light Commissioner is alongside the rammed steamer Boston and divers are driving wedges where the steamer's hull plates were started by the blow of the Swift Arrow's bow under-reaching the Boston's guard.

The government tuggs Boholink and Tait are still alongside with wrecking hose leading to the steamer's hold, but the steamer rests on bottom. As soon as the divers have tightened the worst of the leaks, it is hoped to pump her out and float her to a dock where she can be relieved of her cargo and then arrangements will be made for drydocking.

At the request of the Eastern Steamship company's Boston office, Coroner Dawley visited the ship again this morning and went over the state room locations, further satisfying the company that no more bodies remain in the wreck. By the coroner's direction and the company's orders, all the bodies have been prepared for burial and the last of them will be shipped home this afternoon.

N. H. GAS TAX PROVES GREAT EARNER

CONCORD, N. H., July 23.—State Treasurer Farrand yesterday announced that the state collected $70,596 on the two cents gasoline tax in July, with four stations missing from the list. The tax was paid on 3,523,844 gallons. This is the largest single month's income since the tax has been collected and the volume of gasoline was $50,000—more than for June. The July receipts, it is estimated, will exceed $80,000.

A Plea to Men

Please Keep Your Hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper
You men admire luxuriant hair, thick and lustrous, healthy, clean. And so do we, dear sirs. Then, why will you, through sheer neglect, let your hair disappear?

My hair is finer than 40 years ago. It grows thicker every year. I have never known falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Just because I searched the world for the best hair helps men know. And I had them combined in a tonic and cleanser. Now I offer you, as I offer women, this supreme help for the hair. It is concentrated. You apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats the hardened oil and dandruff which so saps the hair roots. It tones and stimulates. Then hair thrives just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

I know that here I place at your command the greatest hair help in existence. Not some fallacious theory, but some ordinary tonic, but the best that science has discovered, so far as I can find. All druggists and toilet counters supply my Hair Youth under guarantee. The first package brings you help you seek, or I will pay the cost. The cost is 50 cents and $1 with eyedropper. Let me urge you to try it. We women—all of us—love to see men with healthy hair. And I have found the way.

I will send you a bottle to try without cost if you mail this coupon to me.

WHEELER COMING DURING AUGUST

La Follette's Running Mate Plans to Open Speaking Campaign in Boston

Indications Are That Brunt of Spellbinding Will Fall on Senate Prober

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The brunt of campaigning for the La Follette ticket probably will fall on Senator Wheeler of Montana, the vice presidential candidate, who expects to leave the stump late in August in Boston, and from then on to conduct a speaking-making campaign of growing intensity.

The tentative plan, which the campaign committee is expected to approve, calls for Senator Wheeler to lead off the night. He leaves tomorrow for a three weeks' rest at a Cape Cod resort and probably will return to Washington for further conferences with Senator La Follette before delivering his speech in Massachusetts, his native state.

State Officer After Dangerous Drivers
Three fines of $20 each, imposed on defendants for operating automobiles in a manner to endanger the lives and safety of the public.

The first victim was William F. Cary, whose machine, stated the arresting officer, was badly smashed collision with another car while going at an unwarranted rate of speed.

Harry A. Webster got into difficulty with the state constabulary official when he tested his motorcycle on a 40-mile-an-hour clip, and occasioned a crash landing, which resulted in the arrest of the motorcyclist who dodges in and out of heavy traffic at a terrific rate of speed, getting in and out of places where larger vehicles find it impossible to operate.

The third defendant was Michael Massarella, whose plan of noisily not accepted by the court. He admitted that he was traveling at a fast pace, but excused himself on the grounds that he was hurrying to the bedside of a sick sister. Motor Vehicle Inspector Eugene Loupret was called into consultation with the judge and stated that speeding, regardless of what means are to be justified, is a violation of the law. With reference to speeding to sick bed-sides, he added that the law holds good even in regard to physicians.

DAVIS SPEEDS UP ON WRITING SPEECH

DARK HARBOR, Islesboro, Me., July 23.—Under a program calling for the completion before his return to New York of his address accepting the democratic presidential nomination, John W. Davis began speeding up today the task of laying out the general subject matter in his mind.

The nominee and his advisors are undertaking a careful assessment of the general situation in the light of the entry of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin into the political arena.

While withholding any formal announcement on the subject, Mr. Davis has made clear that in his judgment the movement in support of the independent presidential candidate will not hurt his candidacy in the least.

Although the past 13 hours have brought a decided change in weather conditions with a damp blanketing fog swept in from the east by easterly winds, Mr. Davis did not alter his fixed regime, devoting five hours to work in his workshop in the studio of his host and arranging for a golf match in the afternoon.

Thursday or Friday he will receive reports on political conditions in Maine from William R. Patterson, of Augusta, the democratic candidate for governor of that state, and E. J. Farnold, who is opposing Senator E. J. Farnold, republican for reelection to the United States senate.

Sacramento Manager Wells is informed that stops will be made at Montreal, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Glacier National park, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, St. Louis, San Diego, Denver, and a number of other points where elaborate plans are being made by the various local commercial bodies to give the visitors from Massachusetts a royal good time.

The entertainment will include luncheons, banquets and sightseeing trips, automobile tours, golf, canoeing and inspection of harbor industrial plants and retail stores—all as guests of the various local organizations in the cities to be visited.

The state chamber reports a large number of inquiries received from persons living in many sections of Massachusetts and already approximately one-third of the reservations for the trip have been taken. The number which it is possible to take is limited to 142.

The personnel of the party is not limited to members of the state and local chambers, though these have preference and are given first consideration. While the object of the trip is primarily pleasure, it is also intended to boost and advertise Massachusetts and New England.

Mr. Edward G. Stacy, general secretary of the state chamber of commerce, and Philip W. Blake, an expert in charge of the tour, will be in Lowell next Tuesday, from 10 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon, at the executive offices of the chamber of commerce in the Fairbairn building, where appointments can be made by anyone desiring to confer with them regarding the de luxe coast-to-coast excursion.

COOLIDGE CONFERS WITH PARTY HEADS

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Republican campaign activities in Washington today simmered down to conferences between President Coolidge and various party leaders and to preparations for the ceremonies to be held here three weeks from tomorrow for the purpose of formally notifying Mr. Coolidge of his nomination.

Mr. Coolidge, having received a report from William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee on the general situation was prepared to continue his discussion of conditions with state leaders whenever executive business permits.

Mr. Coolidge was ready to begin tomorrow on his acceptance speech. He has not indicated how long it will be. James E. Reynolds, formerly of Massachusetts but now of Washington, who was manager of the Coolidge convention campaign in 1920, has become head of the Washington office of the campaign organization with the departure of Chairman Butler for Chicago, where he will maintain his official headquarters.

Testifying in his own behalf Kennedy admitted selling Bowditch a drink on June 23, but said he never had seen him before that date. He denied he had sold him liquor on May 24.

Alphonse Champi and Louis Martelli of Lawrence, were held for the federal court under bonds of $500 each when the commissioner found probable cause of guilt on charges of illegal manufacture and sale of beer. Eugene Lombardi, also of Lawrence, a third man named on the complaint, was discharged.

A large number of these receipts were received at the local postoffice for delivery today. The addresses to which the receipts are mailed are the addresses which appeared upon the depositor's book when the bank failed.

Many of the letters stating the receipts cannot be delivered. Postmaster Dellea today stated that any person who was a depositor in the Traders' bank and who fails to get a receipt from the receiver-general within a few days, should make inquiries at the general delivery window of the main postoffice, where all undelivered receipts will be held.

Federal Inquiry

rushed to port aboard the coast guard cutter Acushnet. The steamship Priscilla took 450 to New York and the steamers Commonwealth and Plymouth carried other survivors to Fall River.

Federal steamboat inspectors were to begin an inquiry today to determine the responsibility for the collision. The Boston, according to Port Captain C. T. Snow of the Eastern Steamship Lines, was moving slowly through the fog at the northwestern entrance of Block Island sound and had stopped to let a schooner go by just before the crash came. The tanker was sighted soon afterward and whistle signals were exchanged. The signals were apparently misinterpreted, and the prow of the tanker rammed the Boston's port side forward of the forward funnel.

Four cabins of the first and second decks were stove in, and the three killed met death as they lay in their berths. Several other passengers narrowly escaped death when they were pinned in their bunks behind steel plates and timbers.

The first order after the collision was to close the bulkheads of the watertight compartments. Wireless signals summoned aid to the steamer. The Commonwealth of the Fall River line and the Priscilla of the same line, bound for New York, pushed their way through the fog to the Boston. The Plymouth also came to the rescue. Passengers were transferred to the steamers.

Clevers of passengers, the crippled Boston was towed into Newport harbor.

Attempts to identify the dead followed. Identification of the body of Mrs. Green became positive late in the day when her brother reached Newport. That of the Schlemm brothers was made by members of the firm of Fearing, Whitton and Company, Inc., with which both were connected.

The Swift Arrow, after standing by the Boston until all the passengers were taken care of, made Fall River with a large hold in her bow but under her own steam, and was surrounded by guards. The Boston's sister ship, the New York, which was on her way to Boston and stood by the distressed vessel from 1 to 7 o'clock yesterday morning, arrived at Boston seven and a half hours late.

DAMAGE TO STEAMSHIP BOSTON $30,000

BOSTON, July 23.—Damage to the steamship Boston rammed off Point Judith, R. I., yesterday in collision in which four lives were lost, will not exceed $30,000, and the vessel is back in service within a fortnight according to Calvin Austin, president of the Eastern Steamship Lines today.

The Boston will be taken to drydock in New York on Friday, Mr. Austin said today.

Fire Chief Says Alarm Signal System Dangerous

way and his crew of electricians of a large length of cable which crumbled into powder when handled. Other circuits throughout the city are in almost as bad condition, he said, and are likely to go out of order at any time.

An appropriation of $12,000 was voted by the department last year for new cables. This money has been spent and the cable purchased has been installed in underground circuits in such a manner that when a new system is installed it will not be necessary to remove these circuits. All this work has been done by fire department electricians and Chief Saunders estimates they have saved the city $25,000 in labor.

For the past several years the chief has agitated for the installation of a new system. Such a system as he desires, he said today, will cost approximately $200,000. Admitting that this is a large sum of money, he says the matter has reached a point where the safety of the city and its residents must be taken into consideration regardless of finances.

It is doubtful if the total amount necessary for a new system will be appropriated this year, but the chief believes sufficient will be appropriated to go ahead with the work of renewing worn-out cables so that when financial conditions permit, a new system, installed in a fireproof house, can be erected and put into operation with but little delay.

TO ADOPT JACKIE COOGAN

Tribe to Give Him Princely

Rank as Its Ambassador
on Near East Crusade

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 23.—Jackie Coogan, idol of juvenile movie fans, will become a full-fledged prince of the Navajo Indian tribe at a special initiation to be held here on August 4. More than six thousand Indians, members of the Navajo tribe and their guests from the Pueblos and other tribes, will be present at the ceremony, which will be conducted by a group of specially appointed medicine men from Gallup, New Mexico.

The award of this unprecedented honor to a white child was voted in order that Jackie might adequately represent, in an ambassadorial capacity, all the Indians of the United States in his approaching visit to the Near East Relief orphanages in Bible lands. Coogan will sail from New York on September 1, with a million-dollar cargo of relief supplies donated by American school children to the orphans of Greece, Palestine and Armenia. About $50,000 worth of these supplies were donated or gathered by students of Indian schools in various parts of America.

Preparations for Jackie's initiation into the Navajo have been under way for more than two months, although the final vote of approval was only passed by the supreme council last week.

Sixty Indian women and girls have spent ten weeks in the preparation of his costume, which includes moccasins, leggings, shirt, jack blanket, and the splendid feathered headdress of a "big chief." At no time in the history of the tribe has a white child been so gorgeously outfitted as the newly adopted member will be on the occasion of his initiation.

Details of the ceremony will be announced in a few days. A feature of the occasion will be the "Dance of Welcome," performed by 300 Indian girls representing the children of the tribe. This dance, more than three centuries old, expresses symbolically the tribe's joy at receiving a new brother.

After the initiation, Jackie and the other Navajo chiefs will be the official guests of a citizens committee of welcome, under the chairmanship of R. W. Hoyt. They will visit several of the local Indian schools and later attend the annual Indian corn dances of the Pueblos of Isleta and Santo Domingo. Jackie's Indian name, which will be

CITY EMPLOYEE GOT DRUNK ON WATER WAGON

OAKLAND, Cal., July 23.—When John Velleia was brought to police headquarters here recently, the arresting policeman announced that the prisoner had been "drunk on a water wagon." The desk sergeant looked up dizzily and was informed that Velleia had been driving the public conveyance known as a water wagon and had been in a state of intoxication. The desk sergeant, after studying over the paradoxical phrase wrote down: "drunk in a public place."

conferred on him during the initiation ceremonies, will probably be "Knight of the Golden Rule" in recognition of the fact that his forthcoming trip to Bible Land is an expression of the humanitarian doctrines expressed in the Golden Rule.

BLACK HILLS PAGEANT PLANS COMPLETE

CUSTER, S. D., July 28.—Amidst a setting of crystal mountain streams and fir clad mountains that rank among the scenic wonders of the North American continent, this little city is astir with plans to entertain a host of visitors from over the nation at a historical pageant and gala occasion July 28-29 in honor of the 50th anniversary of the discovery of gold in the Black Hills.

What Sutter and the days of '49 mean in the annals of California is signified to South Dakotans in the name of the 50th anniversary. The discovery of gold here July 27 of that year, and from the event has developed the greatest low grade gold producing mine in the world, and an industry that contributes an average of one-tenth the annual output of this metal in the United States.

For some years Custer, the oldest town in the Black Hills, named after the veteran Indian fighter who met death in the massacre of the Little Big Horn, has paid modest tribute to its original "sour dough" but now a dozen cities have joined hands to mark the semi-centennial a historic event.

Included in the two-day celebration will be a program of sports partaking of the atmosphere of the pioneer west, and a sectional trade of industrial progress. The climax of the festival will be a pageant, "Gold Discovery Day," preparations for which have been under way for months.

The episode itself will be briefly set forth in the coming of General Custer to the site on a scouting expedition and the epochal incident in which Ross, free lance geologist and a member of his command, sifted out the first pan of "pay dirt" from the bed of French creek. There will be many more scenes depicting the part of the Indian and cowboy, of the prairie schooner, stage coach and ox team in the early life of the region.

The town of Custer dropped out of focus in the Dakota gold stampede as suddenly as it had risen to fame when, the year following the original discovery, the richer "diggers" were located near the present cities of Lead and Deadwood, but the community could not be deprived of its history-making experience.

A monument of Black Hills specimen masonry was dedicated on the 1921 anniversary to the memory of the veteran Ross, who lived and died here. Also, a large fund was completed in June this year for a memorial to Mrs. Annie J. Tallant, who arrived with her husband and the initial band of prospectors overland in a prairie schooner in the late fall of that first year and remained—the first white woman in the Black Hills.

"Pimples broke out on my forehead and later my chin became affected. The pimples were hard and red and sometimes they festered. They itched terribly and when I scratched them it made them worse. The skin around the pimples was red and inflamed, and the trouble lasted about two years."

Atlanta, Ga., Means Peanuts, Cotton and Watermelon

BY WILL M. CRESSY
(Copyright, 1924, The Lowell Sun)

A-t-t-a-n-t-a is the short way of spelling Georgia.

Atlanta was named for Mr. George P. Atlantic, the discoverer of the Atlantic ocean, and the founder of the Atlantic Coast Line R. R. and the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.

At the rate Atlanta is growing, all the other towns in Georgia soon will be simply suburbs of Atlanta. For instance, there is Rome. Rome was named for the place where Mister Nero added "There'll be a Hot Time" to show his opinion of the Rome fire department.

While Atlanta is very patriotic, their favorite song is not "Marchin' Through Georgia."

Its principal exports are cotton, peanuts, ex-kleagles, watermelons, cocoa cola and professional southerners.

By choice the Atlanta negro is a republican. But $2 is a lot of money and in Georgia the letters B. V. D. mean "Better Vote Democratic."

Politically Atlanta is probably the most advanced city in the United States. They rewrite the constitution every morning. But disclaim any responsibility for the 18th addition to it.

Georgia is a great fruit-producing state. Its most profitable crop being the peanut. In the spring when the peanut trees are in bloom Georgia is said to rival Japan in cherry blossom time.

The peanut is, or are, according to whether they are double jointed or not, the only rival to the clove for removing incriminating evidence from the breath.

Peanuts are either taken straight, or used to make peanut butter, peanut brittle and rich ice creams.

The only place to eat peanuts in a refined manner is at a circus.

The watermelon is another Georgia product. A watermelon is striped pumpkin full of sweetened water. It grows best in a sandy soil, in a white neighborhood.

But the staple crop of Georgia is cotton. Cotton is used principally to feed boll weevils with. It is also good to stick in the ears for earache. Doctors also use it to sew up inside of folks after an operation.

Cotton grows in a bulb, like an electric light. It hatches like a chicken. Then the cotton is picked out of the shell by hand. Black hand. (African, not Italian.) Cotton when picked is full of seeds. Cotton seeds. (Ain't nature wonderful?) Cotton is used in the manufacture of about everything but tomato catsup and loupes. There are also many by-products of cotton. These are things we buy thinking we are buying something else.

BRINGING THE PICNIC BASKET UP TO DATE

Picnics! Hikes! Automobile trips! All America is outdoors, and the picnic basket goes along!

It is fitting then that cookery experts should turn their attention to devising new ways of making the picnic lunch attractive and nourishing, and housewives will welcome these suggestions which we reprint from Dorothy B. Marsh's timely article in August Good Housekeeping.

"For the seaside picnic, there are varieties of sandwiches, dainty in their fillings, crisp salads, and plenty of fruit and cake to round out the juicy steak, fried potatoes and coffee which will be cooked in the open fire. Or there are a choice of sliced cold meats with pungent relishes, very simple sandwiches with fruit salad and cake as a top-off for the 'woods outing.' Or it may be an automobile trip when the dish of creamed chicken, piping hot as it comes from the container constructed to keep food hot or cold, will just touch the spot.

Tasteful Sandwiches
"If your sandwiches are to be field with sliced meat, care should be taken that the meat slices are thin, even, and neat, and carved across the grain of the meat rather than with it. It is always best to roast or cook the cuts of meat the day previous to using, so that they may be thoroughly chilled, for it is not easy to carve thin slices of meat from a hot roast. If you are making sandwiches, cook the smoked tongue until tender, and let it cool in its liquor. Then remove and chill in the refrigerator. The thick end of the tongue is apt to be more juicy than the tapering end. Place the tongue for carving with the convex side up, and cut thin, slanting slices widthwise of the tongue. If you have selected a smoked ham, let it cool in its liquor after cooking until tender, then remove and thoroughly chill. Place the ham for carving so the knuckle bone is resting upright on the platter. Cut thin meat slices widthwise of the meat, clean and straight to the bone, then turn the knife and run it along the bone to loosen the slices. Chicken as a favorite picnic meat may be roasted, steamed, or boiled until tender as preferred. When thoroughly chilled, it may be carved. The most uniform slices of white meat are cut lengthwise from either side of the breast bone after the drumsticks and wings have been removed. The dark meat on the thigh bones and drumsticks can be sliced off with a very sharp knife in neat, even slices. If the sliced meat is to be served at the picnic lunch accompanied by potato chips, sandwiches, etc., divide into individual portions and wrap each portion attractively in wax paper. In wrapping sandwiches, whether they are of the meat variety or some other, wrap first find that small wooden skewers of the toothpick style secure the ends of the wax paper wrappings very neatly. If you are including more than one variety of sandwich in your picnic basket meal, you can wrap a sandwich of each variety in the same wrapping to facilitate distributing at the picnic."—From Good Housekeeping.

See How Quickly
You Can Banish

Gray Hair

This Clean, Colorless Liquid Will Quickly
Restore the Former Color

Amazing results are reported by thousands of people who have seen their gray hair return to its original color under the touch of the remarkable preparation known as Kolor-Bak. Many report results in a week.

In this clean, colorless liquid we have a true substitute for the natural pigmentation, which the hair has lost because of age, illness, shock, scalp disease or some other cause. Remarkable as it may seem, Kolor-Bak not only banishes the grayness, but restores the actual former color to the hair, no matter what it was—black, brown, red, auburn. And the color is uniform throughout—the hair does not appear streaked, faded or dyed.

Kolor-Bak is not sticky or mussy. It is just as easy to use as clear water. It also cleanses the head of dandruff, scurf or scale, keeps the scalp in good condition, gives the hair a beautiful, silky appearance and prevents it from becoming brittle and falling out.

As long as your hair retains its youthful appearance, you get credit for being young—and to be young is always an advantage in both social and business life. Both men and women have a reliable friend in Kolor-Bak.

No need to furnish samples of your hair to get the right preparation. Kolor-Bak is for all hair, no matter what its original color, so you don't have to do any "matching" or experimenting. Just try Kolor-Bak and see how quickly the lost color returns. Kolor-Bak is sold on money-back guarantee.

DUTIES OF POLICE CHIEF

Those who know the genial and obliging nature of Chief Atkinson of the police department, will regret to hear of his serious illness brought on, it is believed, by the worries and responsibilities of his office. A nervous man should never accept an office such as that of police chief under present conditions. It may not have occurred to the average citizen that as a result of prohibition, together with new traffic and accident problems, the duties of chief of police have been multiplied almost fourfold in the last half dozen years. The superintendent of police has found his position a most nerve-racking one. The continual turmoil, raids, arrests, prosecutions and legal tangles arising from the enforcement of the prohibition law, are very annoying, and no matter how faithfully a man tries to enforce the law, he will find that he can neither control nor banish all the bootleggers.

This realization preyed upon the mind of Supt. Atkinson and in all probability had something to do with bringing on his present serious illness. The traffic problems also, came thick and fast. They are comparatively new and call for much serious thought and executive ability for even the semblance of regulation. In addition to the general work of the department, the business of keeping track of the expenditures of the department was no small task in itself, so that it is not at all strange that Supt. Atkinson has temporarily succumbed to the cares and worries of his office.

At present the duties of police superintendent in a city such as Lowell, are too heavy for any one man. The administrative duties might well be taken off his shoulders so that he could devote his time and energies mainly to the enforcement of the laws, the rounding up of bootleggers and crooks and the strict preservation of law and order at every point. All this would mean merely a subdivision of labor and the assignment of part of the work now resting on the shoulders of the superintendent to other hands.

SECRETARY HUGHES ABROAD

In his address before the American Bar association in London and again at the Pilgrim dinner, Secretary of State Hughes gave a clear and yet conservative statement of the attitude of the United States on the leading international issues that have delayed the restoration of actual peace and settled conditions in Europe.

In everything he said, Secretary Hughes spoke with the dignity befitting his position and with tact and eloquence, he unofficially set forth the good will of the United States and the desire of her people to aid Europe in every practical way in the solution of the present reparations issues with Germany, to the end that justice shall be done and the problems coming down from the war solved in a manner that will insure permanent peace.

As a lawyer, Mr. Hughes' address to the Bar association was particularly brilliant and appropriate. The fact is, that he has the tact and judgment, together with the diplomatic intuition, to say the right thing in the right way. His speeches have created a good impression in London and in this respect they will stand in striking contrast to the blundering utterances of Col. Harvey, who hardly ever addressed a public meeting in London without either insulting his hearers by some crude remark or else disgusting them by fulsome praise at the expense of his own country. Hon. John W. Davis made no mistake of that kind, and since he left London no American has spoken so diplomatically as has Secretary Hughes.

FOR ALL NEW ENGLAND

An important conference of New England sales managers to discuss the better development of a home market for New England-made goods, opens today in Boston. Invitations were sent in advance and in good producing firms sales managers of every producing firm in New England, by the Boston chamber of commerce, whose plans to promote the commerce of this region of the United States will culminate in a "New England Week," Sept. 15 to 20.

At this week's session of sales managers from every important business section of six states, plans were formulated to better reach New England consumers and sell their goods in their "home region." Specific topics brought up included methods of "selling New England," plans for a new England sales managers' convention to take place in a centrally located city of convenient access; an explanation of the methods used by several well known business concerns which have obtained a thorough distribution of their goods in New England and other important matters relating to the process of reviving inter-New England trading to hasten the return of prosperity "at home."

We have no doubt that the sales managers will also look thoroughly into the problem as to what percentage of the present total consumption of merchandise of the country is represented by New England purchasing power. Plans should also include a complete commercial survey of New England and possibly the publishing of a suitable register of New England-made merchandise.

THE MATTRESS VOTER

The mattress voter, who gets registered here because he happens to sleep here on April 1, is said to be a rather numerous entity. Some of them have become rather prominent in our municipal affairs and also rather outspoken on various public issues just as if they were bona fide residents. It would seem to be the duty of the assessors to deal with this class of bogus citizens as the law directs. The man who resides in an adjoining town and owns property there is not doing his duty to this city by being registered here through sleeping at a friend's house or in a local hotel on April 1. Moreover, we understand that some such "citizens" who are virtually non-residents, have their children educated at the schools of Lowell without paying the usual tuition fees charged non-residents.

WALL STREET WONDERS

Undoubtedly Wall Street fears that the La Follette candidacy for president will lay stress eventually upon the desirability of government ownership of all the railroads in the land. That was predicted before the recent Cleveland convention. The financial districts in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, of course, believe that the convention that chose La Follette for its standard-bearer, was dominated by certain radical interests. The latter's reported warm friendliness to the gentleman

A Thought
Better a little chiding than a great deal of heart-break.—Shakespeare.

In Plain English

"And now," began counsel, well known for his use of legal phraseology, in his cross-examination of a witness, "I take it that in view of the enforcement of this wage award you were given notice that your agreement would be terminated?" "If you mean I was given the sack, that's right," said witness.—Yorkshire Post.

The Misogynist

I am a woman hater; they bore me. They stammer and giggle in a way that makes me tired. Their painted faces, pencilled eyebrows, ruby lips and all their little tricks do not thrill me. Their talk is not interesting. I would not care to sit out a dance with one of them. I like the company of men so much better. I am a woman.—Town Topics.

So Wonderful Life

It's great to be an editor. To sit up late at night. And scratch your head. And throw the ball. And write and write and write. An editor was dying, but when the doctor bent over, placed his ear on his breast and said, "Poor man! Circulation almost gone," the dying editor shouted: "You're a liar! 'Vo have the largest circulation in the country.'"

Decided to Serve

On the panel summoned was a lady who wished to be excused. When her turn came the judge asked: "Well, madam, why don't you want to serve on this jury?" "I'm opposed to capital punishment," she said. "But this is merely a case in which a wife is suing her husband for an accounting. It seems she gave him a thousand dollars to pay down on a handsome fur coat, and he is alleged to have lost the money at poker. The lady juror spoke up promptly: 'I'll serve. Maybe I'm wrong about capital punishment.'"

Modern Miracle

Novelist Theodore Dreiser was talking about a religious squabble which threatened to break up a Brooklyn church. "It is a squabble about miracles," he said. "Now it is silly to squabble about miracles. Why, miracles are happening all around us every day." He named impressively: then he went on: "Only this afternoon I saw George Jones walking with a chicken, and when Mrs. Jones—George's wife, you know—happened by ill luck to appear, I distinctly saw the chicken turn to duck."—Brooklyn Eagle.

It's So Easy!

The late Letty Lind, the famous Gaiety star, did not look with any great favor on the movies. "They lie," she said one day, "and are of certain value to the producers of the picture industry. It's like the egg story. In a certain restaurant that made a specialty of soft-boiled eggs they used to mark on each shell the date of laying. Thus the patron could refuse any eggs that weren't perfectly fresh, you see. Well, one evening, a patron asked for a couple of eggs laid that day. 'Sorry, sir,' the waiter said, 'but today's eggs are sold out. However, if you don't mind the date, I can give you a couple of eggs of tomorrow's.'"—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Rightly Accused

In my junior year at college I edited the annual. One of the features of the book that year was a group of baby pictures, ostensibly those of the faculty. In reality they were taken from the collection of a friendly photographer and given professors' names. The staff member who arranged them never thought the pictures would be recognized. Apparently none was. A few years later, one of my wife's school friends was visiting at our home. Something came up that caused a reference to this annual. "You published that book, didn't you?" she said to me. "And do you know what you did? You printed my baby picture and under it ran the name of Prof. Smith," naming a disfigured professor of Greek language and literature.—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Fully Protected

Briggs and his wife were starting out for a ride in the car. "I tell you, we don't get out in the open enough in the winter time," Mr. Briggs observed. "Nothing like—this car isn't working like it ought to. Only hitting on three." "Maybe we had better go back," Mrs. Briggs suggested. "Nonsense! I'll be all right when it gets warmed up." Mr. Briggs spoke with assurance. Just then they came to a hill and the car climbed to the top only with great difficulty. "Guess I'll have to take a look and see what the trouble is," Briggs announced. He pulled over to the side of the road and got out and raised the hood. After a short investigation he raised up and announced to the Mrs.: "Just a spark plug missing." "Well," commented the Mrs., "Isn't it just like that you have theft insurance?"—Kansas City Star.

The Halls of the Heart

The sweet-scented meadow, the blue-tinted sky. They do not desert us when summer goes by. For all through the winter, though summer depart. Their pictures are hung in the halls of the heart. The darker the day, and the sadder the mood. The brighter the memories of mountain and wood. And worried and wearied in mill or in mart. We turn with relief to the halls of the heart. The sweetest loving smile and the bright beaming eye. They stay with us still though our darlings may die. For love and remembrance, with magic art. Still picture them forth in the halls of the heart. Then face we the future however it may frown. Though sorrows like snows of the winter come down. The joys of the past of our lives are a luck. We keep them for aye in the halls of the heart! —DORIS A. MCCARTHY.

"DAD" COOLIDGE VISITS WHITE HOUSE

The Coolidge family poses on the White House lawn for the first time since the arrival of the president's father (seated on left) who came for his first visit following the death of Calvin, Jr.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Councillor "Jim" Hennessey, recently returned from a few days at Wellfleet and Falmouth where his cousin, George Moran, is conducting two fine hotels, is enthusiastic over Cape Cod and what he saw, and as the councillor never lets anything get by him, he is interesting when telling about anything. He met Governor Cox at Wellfleet, he said, for the governor owns a cozy little summer place near the place where the councillor stopped, and he says His Excellency was happy in the enjoyment of a sunny looking sail boat. Councillor Hennessey saw much in and around Provincetown to delight him; much that was clustered about the early days of the colonies, and said the monument there overlooking the harbor is majestic and awe-inspiring. He told me that the pretty little church in Wellfleet, with its exquisite garden of roses, lilacs, etc., is a delight to the eye. "It was an entirely new country to me," he added, "and folks here can well find something charmingly interesting in a drive around those quaint little Cape Cod towns."

Automobiles have been warned on many occasions within the past few years about the danger of thieves looting spare tires from their machines if left parked in out-of-the-way places, and on several occasions automobiles have been robbed. Tires which were in place on the wheels. But the limit was not reached until recently when, according to police of a town nearby, wheels of cars parked by the highway were stolen. According to the police of this town, an automobile was left by the highway for about an hour one evening and the driver, upon returning to the machine, found that both front wheels of the machine had been stolen.

Youth triumphant! Baseball is for boys. To prove this we have ready for presentation testimony of nine or ten men who have advanced into the state of matrimony, yet who covertly think themselves the physical equal of their juniors. It is all bunk! Age exacts a penalty and stands by while dynamic boyhood shows the way. In baseball particularly. A team composed wholly of married men from this paper opposed a team of bachelors. Neither teaming and we of the family ties came off second best. It was not a bad beating, no, it was a close, well-fought-out contest, but the staying power of the youngsters was in evidence as the innings passed. They could stand the gaff better, what we mean, they absorbed punishment easier.

Thoughts of baseball lead to thoughts of Alumni field and then to Billie Clark, the caretaker, who is an earnest worker and one of the most accommodating gentlemen one will meet in a day's journey. He has been very nice to us before and during our baseball battles and we cannot but give him this slight word of justifiable praise. Of course I know that it is useless for one whose word carries as little weight as does mine to even attempt to criticize the adorable young bachelors, nevertheless I cannot help but note the idiosyncrasies of that class of young women. Yesterday I stood on the square watching antics of the galloping mercury in attempting to smash the record. Eighty-six was the tale that the thermometer told. Just then a vision in the form of a girl brushed past me. She was, apparently, comfortably dressed for November. She wore a cloth hat, a long sleeved dress and gloves. Around her throat she wore a heavy white fur. I give up.

ONE FRIEND TELLS ANOTHER

The fame of a successful remedy is often spread far and wide by women telling one another of its merits, as is evidenced by a letter written by Mrs. Delbert Bush of Masena, N. Y. She writes: "I was in such a bad condition I could hardly walk, a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with excellent results advised me to try it. It has given me back my health and I cannot praise it enough." There are women everywhere who have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gladly tell their friends and neighbors about it.—Adv.

Hair Cuts

Who do you see in the every day parade that leads to the old barber chair? There's mother and sister and grandmother, staid; and sonny, quite often is there.

Mom goes for a cut that is stylish; her hair to fashion, it seems is a slave. And then she will patiently sit in the chair while they hand her a permanent wave.

The barber shouts "next!" and then grandmother hops. She dreams of her sweet-sixteen day. And, thus, you will find, when the barber man stops that her tresses are bobbed half way.

Comes sonny a running; his patience is weak for he is a play-seeking soul. There's many a time from the barber's he'll sneak. Then Mom cuts his wool with a bowl.

When sister gets in she's exact as can be o'er the way that her head of hair hangs. She faces the mirror just so she can see how the barber is cutting her bangs.

We almost forgot about baby and dad, but they ne'er to the barber are hauled. Perhaps they have reason enough to be glad for Pop and the infant are bald.

Magnificent try fate. Once Mistress of the Sea! No braver vessel ever flung A pennon to the breeze. No bark e'er died a death so grand. Such heroes never vessel manned. Your parting broadside broke the wave That surged above your patriot graves. Your flag, the gamut of the game, Sank proudly with you—not in shame. But in its ancient glory. The memory of its parting gleam Will never fade while poets dream. The echo of your dying gun Will last till man has race has run. Then live in Angel Story. —Author Unknown.

TELLS HOW WOMEN MAY STAY YOUNG

"At any age, if she wishes it, a woman may have youth," Mary Garden says in an interesting interview with Lloyd Morison recorded in August "Good Housekeeping." "In middle age," she goes on, "she may add the wisdom and attraction of experience. Everyone has heard of Ninon de l'Enclos, the famous French beauty, who at eighty still exercised a subtle fascination upon all who met her. Ninon possessed the secret of eternal youth. And that secret is to retain a perpetual youthfulness in living; to live only in the future, never in the past.

Not Afraid of Age. "Now I do not fear age," the famous star affirms, "for it is possible to conquer the future. Everyone knows my age; it would be preposterous for me to try to conceal it. And why should I? There are compensations in maturity, advantages even, that are not perceptible to the very young. People often seek to compliment me by saying that I am now at the height of my career, that I have reached my greatest success as an artist. But I have not, and I say this emphatically. In a sense my career is only beginning. There are infinite worlds for me to conquer; worlds that do not lie in anything external to me, but in my mind and heart.

Physicist Attractiveness. "Naturally, no woman can afford to neglect the usual precautions which aid her in preserving physical attractiveness," Mary Garden proceeds to counsel readers of August "Good Housekeeping." "A regular life, enough sleep, strict attention to diet, any form of exercise consistently pursued, and an undeviating solicitude and attention to personal appearance upon all occasions are the chief of those precautions. No woman can afford to let herself go at any age, no matter how young or beautiful she may be. To do so is to begin to for ma habit of laziness and inertia which is not only damaging, but to take these precautions is an obligation of intelligence. It is equivalent to a deliberate refusal to degenerate. I sometimes think that, in a woman, vanity and pride in physical appearance is an index of cultivation. A savage can be sloppy and careless, but a determination to make the most of oneself indicates civilization of the spirit.

"The chief point, however, is to have an ambition that spurs you on; to possess some definite purpose toward which you are working and for which you are living. That is the only infallible defense that I know against the exactions of time. To face the future with courage, with expectancy, with a clearly conceived objective, is really equivalent to annihilating the future.

FINDS STYLE IN GINGHAM DRESSES

HOPE HAMPTON POSING IN SOME Dainty frocks of gingham

"Simple frocks for a quiet mood," advises Hope Hampton, as she poses in the latest styles in gingham dresses.

Style in gingham? Oh, yes! It's even easy to achieve as these photographs demonstrate. The flounced model cleverly makes use of the modish apron tunic. A long overskirt and clever collar are stylish adjuncts of another. A third is a straight-line affair with a dashing bow on one hip. Fashionable models, all of them, and all of them of gingham.

"Frocks like these are fresh and sweet for morning," says Miss Hampton. "I wear them often, especially in California. They put me in a cheerful work-a-day mood."

TO TRY SCOUTS FOR BOLSHEVISM

Over 500 Philippine Soldiers Involved in Military Trial at Manila

Secret Soldiers' Union Formed, is Charge—Arrested For Inciting Mutiny

MANILA, July 23. (By the Associated Press).—A revision of plans for the military trial of Philippine Scouts accused of insubordination in connection with alleged Bolshevick activities at Fort McKinley, recently, in a broadening of the proceedings, took in more than 500 men, it was announced today.

Work of investigation in connection with the trials has been completed and the accused divided into three groups. The trials, instead of beginning July 25, as announced, will begin July 29. Three courts are to be set up for the hearings instead of two, as had been planned. There will be a court to try the 15 alleged ringleaders in the movement, which included, besides refusal to perform duty, the formation of a secret soldiers' union, intended to seek equalization of pay with white soldiers. Brig. Gen. Douglas MacArthur already has been named to hear this court. The chief charge against these is inciting a mutiny. A second body will convene to hear the trial of 209 members of the Philippine soldiers charged with joining a mutiny.

A third court to hear charges against 285 other scouts in whose cases the alleged refusal to obey orders was modified or abandoned during preliminary examination. Previously it had not been expected this latter group would be brought before a court.

PARDONED EDITOR STILL CONFINED

EAST LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 23.—Still incarcerated in the San Miguel county jail, although executive clemency was extended him, Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque publisher, today awaited trial by the state supreme court on a writ of habeas corpus that he hopes will bring him freedom. Following his conviction yesterday in District Judge Leahy's court on contempt of court charges, Magee was sentenced to three months in jail.

Sheriff Delgado refused to release the publisher last night, after receiving notification that Gov. J. F. Hinkle had pardoned Magee as he did in the case of a former conviction a year ago in Judge Leahy's court. The sheriff based his refusal to release Magee on the ground that the governor had not pardon power in the case of direct contempt.

Magee's imprisonment is the result of a long fight he had waged through his newspaper against what he has referred to editorially as "corruption of courts," and other alleged state governmental misdemeanors. The first contempt of court charges were preferred against him more than a year ago as a result of editorials attacking J. W. Parker, chief justice of the New Mexico supreme court.

The first trial resulted in Magee's conviction on four criminal libel counts in Leahy's court and the subsequent imposition of fines aggregating more than $4000 and jail sentences totalling 360 days.

On this occasion Gov. Hinkle extended executive clemency. When Magee was declared guilty yesterday he said in his statement to the court:

"I deny that I have been accorded due process of law and I deny this is a court."

Judge Leahy then declared him in direct contempt and imposed a three months' jail sentence to run concurrently with the sentences imposed in the two counts in which he was found guilty.

The Albuquerque editor has headed a fight against state governmental control by what he has termed political cliques and factions. He met with financial reverses that caused him to relinquish his hold on the Albuquerque Journal and later started a weekly newspaper, known as Magee's Independent, which later became a daily under the name of the New Mexico State Tribune.

LIFE SAVING

By MARGARET PLUNKETT
When drowning, a person frequently claps his hands around the neck of the one who is trying to save him. Unless the rescuer can break this hold, both of them may sink. The rescuer must place his right hand on the right jaw of the drowning person.

Then he must put his left hand on the drowning one's right elbow, push with his right hand, lift up with his left, and duck his head under the other's right arm. This movement will free the rescuer and leave him at the drowning person's back, from which point he will have command of the situation. (Copyright, 1924, The Lowell Sun)

BUFFALOES TAKEN BY ANCIENT ENEMY

"We have met the enemy and they are ours," was the triumphant report of the Iroquois big chief at the closing of the stirring battle of the Acre when the Iroquois braves clashed with the Buffaloes in the regular Junior league fray on the North common last night, winning 11 to 2.

ABBOTS PLAY DILBOY POST

Fast Graniteville Team Tackles Tough Opponent at Alumni Field Saturday

Two Snappy League Outfits Prepare For Bitter Struggle

The Abbot Worsteds of Graniteville, one of the greatest aggregations of ball-players gathered together in these parts and prime favorites with all local lovers of the national pastime, will cross bats with the fast Dilboy Post team of the Greater Boston Twilight League at Alumni field here Saturday afternoon. Fans who enjoy spectacular baseball—and that's the only kind purveyed by the Abbot's—will see plenty of it when these two star diamond outfits begin activities at 3.15 p. m. Saturday. The 2000 or more fans who witnessed the thrilling exhibition of the blue-uniformed boys against the plucky North Cambridge crew a week ago, are anxious to see more of that same snappy brand of ball, and for this reason they are anxiously awaiting the umpire's cry to begin play.

Although Dilboy Post has a slight lead on the Abbot's in the circuit standing, it is not what the critics would call an impressive one. The Boston aggregation has won four and lost two games to date in the league schedule, while Abbot's have annexed the same number of victories and dropped three games. Dilboys, by the way, are rated as being an aggressive bunch and capable of making any baseball manager worry. They claim a stellar pitching staff and a gang of sluggers who know how and where to hit the old apple when hits mean something. Boston, however, they are rooting for the Post boys to oust the Dan Lehey gang of Cantabrigians from the league leadership and there are many of the firm opinion that this can be done.

Abbot's showed in their recent get-together with the Cantabs that they must be reckoned with when it comes to doping out pennants. With Eddie Boyce and "Purcell" performing up to regulations, and with the team hitting like a vengeance, it is not difficult to see how the Graniteville men should be regarded as dangerous. From now until the end of the season, Manager McCarthy's sluggers will stick to the bitter finish in every game. Boston's Saturday's clash against the Dilboys, Abbot's are planning on a new method of attack that will net them additional victories as the season wanes.

As hitters, you can't duplicate the Urran brothers, St. Angelo and the other stars in the Abbot lineup. Walker in right field, Minard in the same box, G. Urran in left, Dameron on first, Williams on second, "Hubber" Crain on third, McQuinn and Dee as catchers and a formidable list of second string talent serve to make the suburbanites a real foe in the national pastime.

The management should pack 'em in if the weather is good in the vicinity of Alumni field Saturday.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Lawrence A.A. will play the Chelmsford A.A., T. R. and T's or the Princetons on the South common next Sunday. Answer through this paper.

A special meeting of the Lawrence A.A. players will be held at 7.30, Saturday evening on the South common.

where it will be shown Friday and Saturday. It is a true to life drama and there is nothing in it which could not happen to the average person of the present day. It shows a young couple getting along very nicely and with an eye to the future, saving money. But saving money on a moderate salary proves to be a rather monotonous and tedious process, so the husband and the wife are beautiful. The wife, in an endeavor to save him, also becomes involved in a gambling affair, but in the end the complications are unraveled and they return to their former ways of living. "Gambling Wives" is made on a lavish scale and the settings are beautiful to behold and their cost runs way up into the thousands. The cast is also a splendid one and includes the following stars: Margie Daw, Edward Barry, Ward Crane, Charlie Murray, Florence Lawrence, Hedda Hopper, Lee Moran, Betty Francisco, Joseph Girard and Billy Miller.

Next Tuesday, Saturday afternoon, an outdoor story with action aplenty, is the added feature while an "Our Gang" comedy and Fox News conclude the bill for the latter half of the work.

Tonight, for the last time, Richard Talmadge will be seen in "On Time," the most exciting and thrilling picture he has ever made.

TIGERS MAKE IT TWO STRAIGHT

Cobbmen Lead League By Half Game Margin as Result of Victory

Senators Split Double Bill With Sox—Boston Wins a Ball Game

NEW YORK, July 23.—Detroit's end of the American league see-saw again is in the ascendancy today as a result of the Tigers' second straight victory over the Yankees.

A half game margin separates the two leaders, and Washington, by virtue of an even break in a double header, still holds third place at a distance of one game.

Babe Ruth's miff of Woodall's long drive after a hard turn furnished the break which furnished the tide of victory in Detroit's error and the Cobbmen ultimately downed the Yanks 3 to 1.

It was the Tigers' eighth successive win and the 12th of their eastern trip. Reaching Thurston for only five hits, Washington dropped the opener of a twin bill to Detroit, 4 to 0, but came back in the second to score a 4 to 1 decision over the White Sox.

Dunorth had to come to Lyons' rescue in the ninth to enable St. Louis to maintain its 5 to 3 advantage over Philadelphia. The Browns made the most of the six bingles they obtained from the Cardinals' pitcher, who was hit by a batter in the ninth.

Boston managed to win its first game in 12 starts by a 4 to 3, after an 11-inning tussle with Cleveland. Placichino hit the count in the ninth by slugging out a home run with one on.

After dropping the first two games of the series to Cincinnati, the Giants found themselves in a doublet. Placichino hit the count in the ninth by slugging out a home run with one on.

Tim McNamara pulled Boston out of the slough of despond by holding Chicago to 2 safeties and one run in the first three innings, accumulating three tallies in the initial encounter of a duet. The Cubs took the second by 8 to 1.

Brooklyn overcame Pittsburgh's lead in the initial encounter of a duet. The Cubs took the second by 8 to 1.

Philadelphia, by a margin of 5 to 3, launched St. Louis on a winning streak which bids fair to parallel its recent winning string.

SILESIA WHITEWASHED BY MANCHESTER

The Manchester jinx which has pursued the Silesia mill team all season was again in evidence at Silesia park in North Chelmsford last evening, when the Queen City boys defeated the Silesia team by a 4 to 0 count. All the runs came to pass in the first three innings of the fray. Sammy Pouliot pitched for Silesia and played in his usual hard luck.

ABBOT WORSTED TEAM DEFEATS MEDFORD

A hard-hitting Abbot Worsteds fine pinned a 12 to 3 defeat on the Medford team in a league game at Graniteville last evening. Edith Urran, who topped the Abbot's, led in the home run race with three hits out of five times up, including a double and a homer. Mitchell pitched excellently.

Francis Deschamps, the Frenchman's manager, anticipated a premature ending of hostilities, with his protégé the victor. He predicts Tunney will not last more than five rounds. Billy Gibson, Tunney's director, is equally confident that Georges will go down for the count in the 6th set-to.

Both battlers will rest today in preparation for tomorrow's struggle. Tunney wound up his training yesterday with six fast rounds of sparring and Carpentier took his final workout last night.

EIGHT PLAYERS IN WESTERN GOLF PLAY

CHICAGO, July 22.—The match rounds today reduced the 12 qualifiers in the Western Amateur Championship to eight players at Hinsdale Golf club and there were some hard struggles both in the forenoon's 16 matches and in the afternoon's eight contests to determine the eight entitled to play in the 36 holes of Thursday.

Gov. Al Smith Praises Bay State Delegation

"I am everlastingly grateful to the delegates from Massachusetts for the splendid support they gave me at the convention," writes Governor "Al" Smith to a Boston friend. "Having determined upon me as their candidate, they were loyal to the end. They manifested their spirit of loyalty in other ways, even in their smoking, for most of them smoked their own Boston cigar, the Elcho. After smoking some Elchos I can understand why the Bay State men are so proud of it. The Elcho is an unusually mild, satisfying cigar."

Questions

1. There is no one out with runners on first and second. The batter hits a fly ball to the short stop, which the umpire rules infield fly. The shortstop catches in ball and, not seeing the runner one second has failed to return to that base, snaps the ball to the second baseman ahead of his attempted return. Is this considered a double play or is the ball dead? The umpire in the game so ruled, would not permit the double play and said the runner being automatically out on the infield fly, play was suspended immediately when the hit was so ruled.—F. G.
2. Two men are out with runners on second and third. The batsman hits safely, both runners scoring, the batsman reaching second safely. The batsman missed first base. The player holding down that position for the team in the field called for the ball and the umpire declared the batsman out, retiring the slide. Do the runs that crossed the plate on the hit count?—L. S.

Answers

1. The batsman was out when the umpire ruled the hit an infield fly. The umpire was in error, however, in ruling the ball dead. The ball is in play on an infield fly as on any other caught fly ball. If the ball was thrown to second before the runner got back to that base, a double play was completed.
2. The runs do not count as a result of the carelessness of the batsman in failing to touch second on his apparent double. The rule says a run cannot count on a play in which the batsman fails to reach first base for the third out. The failure of the batsman to touch first made this such a play.

BUT THEY KNOW EACH OTHER

By N.E.A. Service
OMAHA, July 23.—The minister will have to be sure he is wearing this spectacle when he marries Loren McKie and Verna Scoville.

For without his "cheaters" he is liable to see double and make Verna the wife of Lawrence McKie and Loren the husband of Vera Scoville.

Loren and Lawrence are twins. So are Verna and Vera.

Loren and Verna are engaged. So are Lawrence and Vera.

The two couples are going to have a double wedding. It will be a fitting climax, they think, to a double courtship.

The two sets of twins met three years ago when Loren and Lawrence, then on the DeWitt (Neb.) high school basketball team, played at Peru, Neb., where Verna and Vera were attending school.

At the banquet given the visiting team, partners were drawn. And the twins drew twins.

"Mother, look what we found—twins who match just as much as we do," shouted the girls when the McKies twins escorted them home.

Strange as it may seem, each of the boys generally knew which he was courtship. And each of the girls generally knew which of the McKies she had a date with.

True, Loren once sat down beside Vera in a street car when he meant to sit beside Verna.

And once it took the girls nearly a whole breakfast hour before they discovered who was who after the boys had swapped ties.

But—

"Well, if the preacher gets us mixed," declared Loren, "he'll have to do it right over again."

Loren and Lawrence live in DeWitt. They are 22, Verna and Vera, 21, reside here in Omaha.

CHELSEA'S MUNICIPAL GAS STATION BUSY

Chelsea's "s" war started off like a jubilee yesterday morning, when 147 customers appeared at municipal station No. 1, as it may be named some day, in the city yards in 5th street, and purchased a total of 221 gallons of gas.

Motorists came in a steady stream, not only from Chelsea, but also from places as far away as Medford, Malden, Watertown and Arlington.

Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley was on hand to see that business boomed, and he said later that it was, in fact, "wonderful." He was right on the job every time a customer drove in to investigate the big sign, "Mayor Quigley's Gasoline Station, 17c Gal."

Assisting his honor was Rep. J. P. Donovan, from the 23d Suffolk district. Mr. Donovan grabbed a gasoline crank and hung on to it for four hours, pumping reduced-rate fuel into the tanks of long-suffering riders. Hugh J. McLaughlin helped Mr. Donovan whenever the press of business grew great.

Mayor Quigley's secretary, Miss Esther Muntz, attended to the filling station during her lunch hour and declared that she had been besieged all morning with telephone calls from all over Greater Boston, asking where the 17c gas station was located.

Twice during the morning the city's big 500-gallon trucks were sent off to replenish the supply and a new 1000-gallon tank is being sunk in the stable yards.

"I have a contract," the mayor said, "a company is bound to supply us with gasoline for the public stations until the private stations bring down their prices. That is their end of the bargain. My end is to keep the name of the company to myself."

SAYS REVOLUTION IS MAKING HEADWAY

MONTEVIDEO, July 23 (By the Associated Press).—The captain of the Greek steamer Andros, which arrived Tuesday from Santos, declared that the South American revolution is gathering strength and apparently triumphing despite official denials of the Brazilian government.

The Andros' captain said that he was unable to finish unloading his vessel at Santos owing to the harassment of the Brazilian dreadnought, Minas Geraes, by rebel aviators.

Two other members of the administrative staff of the mines were sentenced to seven years on the same charge and two others were acquitted.

ILLINOIS NATIONAL GUARD CALLED

MOUND CITY, Ill., July 23.—Following a series of narrow escapes from mobs which twice threatened their lives, three negroes posted today behind the safe walls of the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., harrowed by their experience. The three were arrested early yesterday as suspects in connection with the slaying of Daisy Wilson, pretty 15-year-old Villa Ridge girl, and were taken to Mound after 6 a. m. at Mounds, Ill., and later at Mound City, were surrounded by threatening mobs.

As a result of these demonstrations, Gov. Smith ordered the immediate mobilization of Company K, 130th Infantry, to proceed here and aid county authorities in restoring order.

LAWRENCE GIRL DROWNS

15-Year-Old Boy Rescues Her Companion—Diver Recovers Body

LAWRENCE, July 23.—While bathing in the Merrimack river near Riverside park yesterday afternoon, 11-year-old Anna Durbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Durbin of 39 Oxford street, went beyond her depth and was drowned. The body was later recovered by Joseph Tardoff, who dove for it.

John Sandler, 15, of 12 Crosby street, reported to the police that he saw the girl and a companion struggling in the water and that he tried to save them. He managed to get the other girl out of the water, he said, but the Durbin girl did not cling to him as he told her to.

U. S. AVIATORS SHOP FOR ARCTIC TOGS

BROUGHT, Eng. July 23 (By the Associated Press).—The American world fliers were working hard to the hangers here preparing their three planes for the trans-Atlantic flight. While four of the fliers busied themselves today converting the machines to sea-planes, Lieutenants Harding and O'Connell went to London to buy Arctic flying togs for themselves and their companions.

On the homeward hop each man is reducing his kit to the very minimum, and one or two of them seem inclined to go so far as to leave their razors behind. They expect to cross the Atlantic without a change of clothes, as a lot of extra suits of heavy Arctic woollens would weigh as much as several gallons of the more necessary gasoline.

EXPECT SURPRISE IN LEOPOLD-LOEB CASE

CHICAGO, July 23.—(By the Associated Press).—The sons of two of Chicago's oldest and wealthiest families, Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, went "on the mercy of the court" today in a case scarcely paralleled in any jurisprudence.

The big question was whether all the cards had been laid on the table, or whether their attorney, Clarence C. Bly, famous fighter in notable criminal cases, had something back on Monday when he appeared on the prosecution by having his clients plead guilty to kidnapping and murdering 14-year-old Robert Frank.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, expects to occupy about two weeks in attempting to prove that the two university men, with their remarkable scholarship records, were sane, and that both should hang.

CURLEY WASHES HANDS OF HARVARD BRIDGE

BOSTON, July 23.—Since the Metropolitan District Commission has taken what he deems a high-handed course in the reconstruction of Harvard bridge, Mayor Curley last night informed Chairman James M. Bailey of that commission, in effect that it and the state must bear responsibility for any accident or legal snarl that may attend execution of the work, as well as bear the brunt of what he thinks will be popular disapproval of the commission's decision to close the bridge to all traffic throughout the renovation period.

Mr. Curley's letter was in response to a written solicitation by the commission of a vote by the Boston and Cambridge bridges commission endorsing the Metropolitan District commission's decision to close the bridge altogether.

OF HARVARD BRIDGE

The mayor sanctions the advice of Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Bourke. Boston's member of the bridges commission, that such a course of action was refused. As commissioner for Cambridge, Francis J. Smith presumably sides with Messrs Curley and Bourke on this issue.

BRITISH FLIGHT HELD UP BY ILLNESS

TOKIO, July 23.—(By the Associated Press).—The McLaren party of British round-the-world aviators was finding its northward course through the Kuriles today.

Forced down a week ago on Uruppu island, near the southern end of the Kuriles chain, by fog and for a time feared to have perished, the fliers early today left Tokotan bay on Uruppu for Murakami bay on Paramushiro, the most northerly of the larger Kuriles, and their last stop in the Japanese empire.

Despatches telling of the fliers' take-off today brought the first news of an unexpected reason for their delay in starting on again from Uruppu, the illness of Flying Officer W. N. Penderleith. Previously, the delay in resumption of the flight had been attributed solely to high winds and heavy fog.

CANOE VICTIM'S BODY FOUND IN CREEK

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 23.—The body of Clinton Nordquist, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nordquist, was found floating in Ash creek early today, by Police Sergeant John F. Cassidy.

Ash creek is about two miles from the place where seven children are believed to have been drowned from a canoe last Thursday.

This is the fourth body to be recovered. The bodies of Ernest Peterson, Walter Bergquist and Florence Benson were found yesterday.

Search for the bodies of Ethel Bergquist, 14; Alva Nordquist, 12, and Alva Anderson, 14, the other three children, is still in progress.

The seven children started out in a canoe from St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Thursday, and the overturned canoe was found floating in the sound the following day.

HEAVY STORMS ALONG COASTS OF FRANCE

PARIS, July 23.—Heavy storms have raged on the west and south coasts of France, seas running exceptionally high and a number of fishing craft are missing.

Lightning wrought havoc in the Montpelier region and several houses at Laure were struck by lightning and burned. A number of olive groves were destroyed by hail. Serious damage was inflicted to the farming region of Lyon and the vineyards bordering Switzerland. The vicinity of Geneva also suffered.

At Royan the waves swept a girl of seven off her feet and she was rapidly held carried out to sea when Pierre Taittner, a deputy of the Parisian constituency, leaped in and rescued her with great difficulty.

SAO PAULO FIGHTING SHOWS NO LET-UP

BUENOS AIRES, July 23.—(By the Associated Press).—A dispatch to La Nación from Santos early this morning stated that fighting continued around Sao Paulo. An official communique from the Rio Janeiro government stated:

"The federals are continuing to progress, occupying new advantageous positions. The activities of our aviators have been very useful in all respects. The necessary measures to counteract probable intentions of the rebels have been adopted."

Middlesex County commissioners have notified the Billerica selectmen that the town has been allotted the sum of $3000 to be used for partial payment in the proposed reconstruction of the old turnpike highway in Billerica. The state has declined to award a similar amount this year, but the town expects to go ahead with the work, noting that the county has agreed to render substantial aid.

RAILROAD MEN VOTE TO IGNORE SUBPOENAS OF LABOR BOARD

Engineers' Brotherhood Heads Confer at Chicago With
National Officers—Will Not Attend Board Hearing
Scheduled to Be Held Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 23.—General chairmen representing firemen and engineers on nearly all railroads west of Chicago convened today with their national officers to determine procedure against the assumption of jurisdiction by the railroad labor board over their wage disputes with the railroad management.

L. G. Griffing, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Firemen, were here for the conference. If they vote to ignore subpoenas served by United States marshals and issued by the board and decide to absent themselves from the scheduled hearing Thursday, the board probably will invoke the aid of the United States district court.

Spokesmen for the organizations have indicated their desire to test the assumption of jurisdiction in the courts.

INQUEST HEARINGS BY JUDGE PICKMAN

Two inquests on recent deaths were conducted by Judge Pickman in the court of second sessions this morning. The hearing had to do with the death of James F. Joubert, the youngest who was knocked down and killed by an automobile on July 10, and Maurice Bernard, a Boston and Maine carhop employee, who was struck and killed by a pipe-bending machine at the Billerica shops on the same date.

Young Joubert met his death when struck by an automobile operated by John Keough at the corner of Bridge street and Lakeview avenue. He resided in West Third street, while Bernard made his home in Third street.

APPEALS TO BUSINESS WOMEN TO CONTINUE AID TO EDUCATION

National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is Addressed By Indianapolis Banker—
Sees Threat in Vocationalism

WEST BADEN, Ind., July 23.—None that the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will continue to use its influence on the side of liberal education and that its "influence will be in opposition to the threatening absorption of education in an encroaching vocationalism," was expressed by Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker, in an address prepared for delivery before the women's organization today.

"Vocational training," he said, "is a supplement, and not a substitute. It is the substitution that is challenged." "Business needs several things more than it needed vocational training of any other kind of 'vocational' education. First, it needs character. And then it needs the capacity to think with concentration and precision. To these is added the habit of work when nothing else much matters."

OUTING WAS BIG SUCCESS

Youthful Guests of Lowell
Rotarians Had Wonderful
Time in Tyngsboro

Lowell Rotary clubmen's "biggest and best" children's outing at Martin Luther picnic grounds, Tyngsboro, yesterday, was all anyone could hope for. It was actually the greatest event of its kind ever conducted by the Dutton street charitable organization that is always doing so much for the youth of Lowell, every month in the year. Yesterday's record-breaking outing and field day, attended by more than 700 orphans representing six different Lowell charitable organizations, was an eye-opening for rare delights from start to finish.

From the start of the attractive street parade shortly after 11 a. m., to the reluctant return home just after dark, the boys and girls who were outing guests for the day of Lowell Rotarians, had the time of their lives gambling in the Tyngsboro open spaces and under the shade trees, swimming in games galore, partaking of tasty box lunches and ice cream, milk and orangeade in vast quantities.

The parade to Tyngsboro was without special incident, few halts being necessary. When the happy travelers reached the picnic grounds, they were greeted by a big force of state police, under the leadership of Harry Hoyt. Boy scouts watched the roads and the river banks and did other police duty during the afternoon. Bathing was forbidden, but life guard Joe Noll hung around, closely watching for violations of the edict and finding none.

Lieut.-Gov. Present
Lieut. Gov. Alvin T. Fuller arrived in time to join the parade just after it swept through the city streets and started on the road to Tyngsboro. He spent about an hour at the picnic grounds and received a cordial reception.

Among the liberal Lowell merchants who contributed, free of charge, food and other supplies for the picnic were Freeman M. Bill, Turner Creamery, Lowell Milk Dealers' Association and Horner Proctor. Miss Martina Gago presented the Rotarians with a ton and one-half of ice, a generous gift also greatly appreciated by the Rotarians.

There was an impromptu ball game staged between teams captained by Chairman Harry Pitts and former President "Burr" Thompson of the Rotary club. Mayor Donovan was umpire. The home team won, 5 to 2, the manager practically winning his own game.

Jack's rural circus also performed, with a pony and three monkeys exhibiting.

Girls from the playground supervisory staff, under the direction of Sup't. John W. Korman of the park department, had charge of the games program. They were Misses Ellen McVoy, Helen Connolly, Helen Coughlin, Mary Dowd, Ruth Whelton, Ruth Sheldon, Anna Ryan, Lucy Desmond and Mary Coffey. Vincent McCartin, playground director, assisted.

The committee in charge of the outing was as follows: Harry Pitts, chairman; Dr. Marshall L. Alling, Xavier A. Delisle, Maj. Walter R. Joyce, Harry G. Pollard, Paul A. Read, Ivan O. Small, Alvin H. Weaver, Clarence M. Wend, Richard J. Welch, Carl G. Wainmann, Fred E. Jones, James E. Moody, P. Leroy Percher and President Arthur C. Spalding.

VISITOR FROM TORONTO
Mr. Harry Young, formerly of this city and now of Toronto, Canada, is renewing old acquaintances here after an absence of twelve years. Harry is with the Canadian General Electric company in Toronto. He thinks Canada is the greatest country under the sun and he says the people are just as good as the country.

LOWELL YOUNG MEN GOING TO DEVENS

The complete list of Lowell young men—21 in all—who will respond to the call of the colors for the 1924 citizens' military training camp routine, starting at Camp Devens, Saturday, August 2, is as follows:

Loran Danforth Barrows, 3 West View street; James Macdonald Burns, 543 Rogers street; Butler Dana Burroughs, 65 Harvard street; Carlton W. Carpenter, 175 Princeton street; Frederick E. Dugdale, 12 Victoria street; Barrett Fish, 32 Holyrood avenue; Richard Frank, 32 Harvard street; Edward J. Foster, 291 Foster street; Edward J. Foster, 291 Foster street; Henry Arnold Hanson, 232 West London street; Charles Coburn Howard, 4 Barton avenue; Robert Allan Johnston, 118 Sanderson street; Robert Donald Judge, 64 Vermont street; Thurlow MacBrien, 6 Belmont street; Clarence A. MacCallum, 233 Princeton street; Desmond McElholm, 465 Westford street; Walter Flemmings Myers, 21 Albert street; Gerard A. Paquin, 37 Arlington street; Whitman Pearson, 60 Clitheroe street; William H. Robertson, 470 Andover street; Arnold J. Ryan, Jr., 50 1/2 street; Wesley Edward Saunders, 47 School street; Osborne Arthur Simmonds, 3 Branch avenue; Ernest Leavitt Spencer, 196 Shaw street; Paul Arthur Sullivan, 28 Grove street; Richard G. Welch, 70 Livingston avenue; Paul Roland Whitworth, 230 Wilder street; David Richard Zall, 5 Osgood street.

Brig. Gen. Malvern Hill Barnum, camp commander, announced that 350 reserve officers from all over New England, now in camp, will instruct the group of "C.M.T.C." students for the entire month of August. This is of particular interest, as it is a brand new departure. The instructors heretofore have been regular army officers, with a sprinkling of National Guard officers. Some of the Lowell citizens are included in the reserve officers camp now in session, and Lowell officers will assist in training the "C.M.T.C." students from this city and other sections of the state at large.

The reserve officer instructors this year are all business men, who are giving 30 days of their time to the "C.M.T.C." (four of duty for one month including their own sons. Gen. Barnum predicts that this will be the beginning of a movement by which the reserve officers will take over the training of the students, leaving the regular army officers to handle the officers' schools and other details of a purely military nature.

DAWES PLAN WILL BE GIVEN A TRIAL

LONDON, July 23 (by the Associated Press).—The inter-allied conference will undoubtedly be successful and the Dawes plan will be given its chance to solve Europe's economic ills despite the present differences between bankers and the conference delegates over guarantees for the $20,000,000 German loan, a leading American financial today told the Associated Press before sailing for home after having for several days been in the closest touch with conference proceedings.

This authority, who has followed the Dawes plan since its inception, declared there was no question among bankers regarding the existence of ample guarantees which will insure the comparatively small sum required for the service of the loan. The problem is, he added, to reduce the potential guarantees to definite forms which will stand as a solid basis of credit.

CHARITY DEPARTMENT ORDINANCE OPERATIVE

The first step by the city charity department towards putting into effect the ordinance recently passed by the city council relative to the distribution of food and fuel to the city's poor was taken this morning when the charity department delivered to the purchasing agent requisitions for a large quantity of foodstuffs and wood.

As the requisition was incomplete in the opinion of the purchasing agent, it was returned to the charity department and it is believed another will be presented this afternoon with details requested by the purchasing agent.

Under the provision of the new ordinance, contracts for foodstuffs and fuel will be let by the city to local concerns and persons dependent upon the city for supplies will be given slips good for a certain amount of goods. Under the old plan, the city charity department delivered foodstuffs and fuel to the homes of the poor.

The new ordinance was advocated by many local charity organizations, and met with general favor when introduced to the city council.

Chief Saunders Wants Fire Investigated

rear of the store, for when firemen arrived the whole rear section was a mass of flames and thick clouds of smoke were pouring from the front of the store and into the tenements above.

Because of the smoke and extreme heat of the flames, it was impossible for firemen to enter the building and three hose lines were directed on the flames from the front doorway of the store. Within ten minutes after the hose lines were put into operation, the fire was sufficiently subdued for firemen to get inside the store, but it was not until nearly an hour after the alarm was sounded that Chief Saunders ordered the recall.

The rear of the store was completely gutted by the fire and a considerable quantity of the stock in the front of the store was damaged by smoke and water. The fire was stopped before getting into the tenements above the store but they were damaged to a slight extent by smoke.

Sergt. Biscow of the police department and Chief Saunders conducted an investigation immediately after the recall was sounded and claim to have found two gallon cans which smelled strongly of kerosene oil. An occupant of one of the tenements told the investigators that she had seen a man whom she could not identify leaving the store a short while before the fire was discovered. As the origin of the fire seemed suspicious, Chief Saunders notified the state marshal's office this morning and requested a thorough investigation by state police officers.

Mrs. Michael Neylon and three children of Andrews street left Saturday to spend the remainder of the month at Salisbury beach.

Before the rate war began the minimum rate was forty cents for the first mile and 30 cents a mile thereafter.

There is a bank mortgage on the premises which may remain. Few places like this one are placed on sale at auction.

The place is reached by auto by going to Billerica Centre and taking the Bedford road, two and seven-tenths miles from Billerica Centre, and is just about at the South Billerica station.

Street cars from Billerica to Bedford go by the door. Get off at South Billerica station.

Terms will be made known at the sale. Rain or shine.
